Speedway, Indianapolis, May 30.—Bob Burman, in his Keeton, leading for the first one hundred miles in the big 500-mile auto classic here today, broke all speedway records forthe class at that distance.

Burman's time for the hundred miles was 1:15:50:55.. The former record was 1:23:43:11.

Goux, in the French Puegot, was in second place, and twenty-three of the cars were still running at this distance.

Inspiring Scene at Start.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the twenty-seven cars, led by Carl G. Fisher, millionaire sportsman, began the long race around the two and half mile track. The pounding of the motors, cheers of the thousands, and waving flags of the five nations, represented an inspiring scene.

The cars got away with a flying start and were going fifty miles an hour as they came down the long home stretch.

Jenkins Schacht was the first to stop at the pits. The machine blew a right rear tire. He lost a lap by the stop.

Before Jenkins started, Anderson's Stutz drew up at the pits with the same trouble.

DePalma Drops Out.

Ralph De Palma, in a Mercer, dropped out of the race the eighteenth lap on account of cylinder trouble. He was soon followed by Jenkins Schacht, which broke a crank case. He went out in twentieth lap.

Herr's Stutz broke a clutch release in the back stretch and caught fire. It is out of the race. No one was injured. The boiling hot sun caused considerable tire trouble, and one car after another dropped in at the pits for a change.

Five Nations Battle.

Five nations—United States, England, France, Germany and Italy—will battle today for supremacy in the automobile world in the third annual 500 mile race to be held here. Everything at the speedway emphasizes the international phase of the contest. Flags of all nations are flying from the grandstands and from the pits there arises a jargon of many tongues from the helpers of the foreign drivers.

Trains and interurbans began early today to carry the thousands to the speedway and the roads were filled with automobiles by daylight. Hundreds of persons slept in the open just outside the speedway, in order to be on hand when the gates opened at 6 o'clock.

Inside the speedway, Captain Carpenter, of the speedway guards, stationed his men just before the gates were opened and gave them final instructions for handling the throng. Ambulances were placed about the track and everything prepared for the start at 10 o'clock sharp.

Betting grew brisker with Burman still ruling the favorite by a slight margin over Anderson's Stutz. Considerable money was bet on the foreign cars. The speed of the foreign cars seemed to give the bettors more confidence in them, although their ability to withstand the terrific vibrative strain of the

GREAT PYLON IS UNVEILED

National Monument to the Heroes of the Maine Dedicated.

MANY NOTABLES ON THE PROGRAM

Event Brings Brilliant Naval Display to New York Harbor.

New York, May 30.—Army, navy and citizenry did honor in New York today to those who perished in Havana harbor on the battleship Maine. The occasion was the unveiling at the Columbus circle entrance of Central park of the National Maine monument, a pylon forty feet high erected by popular subscription from all parts of the nation.

The ceremonies brought to this city a dozen dreadnoughts of the North Atlantic fleet, the Cuban cruiser, the secretary of the navy, former President Taft, representatives of the Cuban congress and government, Gov. Haines, of Maine, and others.

Although the unveiling exercises proper were not staged until late afternoon, they were preceded by a land parade in which 5,000 blue jackets of the Atlantic fleet took part, augmented by troops from the regular army, the New York National guard, veterans of the Spanish-American war and a company of Cuban artillery, a Cuban band of sixty-two pieces and the sailors from the cruiser Cuba.

Rear Admiral Cameron McRay Winslow, U. S. N., acted as chief marshal.

Guns Boom Out Salute.

A salute of twenty-one guns from each of the battleships at anchor in the Hudson; the placing of wreaths on the monument on behalf or President Wilson, the state of Maine, the state of New York, the city of New York, the Cuban government and one by Rear Admiral Sigsbee, who as a captain, was in command of the Maine when she sank, comprised, aside from the speeches, the chief feature of the unveiling ceremonies.

The speaker's program called for the addresses by Mr. Taft, Secretary Dan-

Eloquent Southron Brings Message of Reunited Country.

TRIBUTE TO HEROES

Gettysburg, Pa., May 30.—Standing on historic Gettysburg battlefield and bringing "a message of a reunited country," Representative Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, today paid eloquent tribute to the heroism of the men who wore the blue and the gray. His was the first address ever delivered by a southerner at Gettysburg Memorial day exercises.

"Our colonial fathers from north, south, east and west," Mr. Heflin said, "fought together when they brought this republic into being, defended it together in the war of 1812 and triumphed together when they carried the stars and stripes into the heritage of the Montezumas. The final and crucial tests of the republic's strength and durability

New American Ambassador Presents His Letters of Credence.

EVENT IS PLEASANT

London, May 30.—Walter Hines Page, the newly appointed United States ambassador to the court of St. James was received today by King George, to whom he presented his letters of credence.

Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, presented the new ambassador. Mr. Page went through the formality of presenting to the king and queen the members of the embassy staff, most of whom had attended many courts and levees in company with the late Whitelaw Reid.

Ambassador Page and his secretaries wore ordinary evening dress, which American diplomats always assume at levees. With the naval and military attaches in uniform, they drove from the hotel where the ambassador is staying, to Buckingham palace in royal carriages with the coachman and footmen in the scarlet livery of the British court.

The string of royal carriages passing through Mayfair to Buckingham palace attracted considerable attention.

Ambassador said: "It was one of the most pleasing experiences of my life. The king and queen spoke frankly, cordially and kindly on a number of subjects. They asked about President Wilson and his family and also after my own family."

IN HOMAGE TO WARRIOR DEAD

Decoration Day Observance at Arlington is Especially Impressive.

AGED AND YOUNG JOIN IN TRIBUTE

Notable Programs Mark the Day Over the Entire Country.

Washington, May 30.—Veterans of the historic strife of the '60's and the younger men who engaged in the war with Spain joined today in paying tribute to the warrior dead of the nation. Arlington cemetery, a national resting place of the soldier and sailor dead, was the objective point of the thousands, veterans and civilians alike, although a score of historic grave yards in and about Washington claimed the reverence and homage of hundreds of others.

The principal ceremonies were at Arlington, in which a considerable force of the regular army from Fort Myer took part.

One of the most impressive services of the day was the decoration of the graves of the "unknown dead."

Nearly a score of government officials and members of congress made speeches. From early morning squads and battalions of marching veterans, sons of veterans and patriotic societies occupied the wide avenue of the capital, laden with flowers and flags, while a flower filled boat was launched on the Potomac river as a tribute to those who lost their lives on the sea.

DISABLED SHIP SAFE IN HARBOR

Tugs Pull American Liner Haverford Into Port at Queenstown.

FREED AT HIGH TIDE

Queenstown, May 30.—Several powerful tugs towed the American line steamship Haverford into harbor this morning. They released her from her dangerous position in Rocky bay, immediately west of Cork Head, at high tide at 1 o'clock.

She had been lying on the rocks since early yesterday afternoon when with 134 cabin and 850 steerage passengers aboard she went ashore in a dense fog. When she was brought into port today she was down by the bows with twenty-one feet of water in her forehold and a considerable quantity in No. 2 hold.

The vessel will be patched up as soon as workmen and material can reach her and will then go to Liverpool for thorough repair.

The efforts to float the Haverford began some time before high water. Three tugs were placed astern to tow her into deep water and another one at the bow to keep her steady. As the tide reached its highest point the liner was gradually released.

As it was still foggy, it was decided to anchor off Cork Head until daylight. Then the vessel was slowly brought into harbor here.

Rocky bay, where the Haverford struck, is in a very exposed position and had the weather been at all rough the steamer would have been a total loss.

CITY JOINS IN TRIBUTE

Fort Wayne Gives Splendid Recognition to Cherished Holiday.

GRAVES OF DEAD HEROES BEDECKED

Annual Parade With Exercises at Lindenwood This Afternoon.

Marking their steps to the time of martial music, a small band of gray-haired veterans marched to Lawton park at 10 o'clock this morning to participate in the Memorial exercises held at the soldiers' monument, as the first part of Fort Wayne's observance of Decoration day.

While their physical strength has been greatly decreased by the ravishes of time, these veterans of the war of the rebellion are as vigorous in spirit as in years gone by and the age-dimmed eyes lighted with patriotism at the sound of the life and drum.

Arriving at the park the exercises opened when, under the direction of the Woman's Relief corps, flowers were strewn upon the water in memory of sailors and marines. The musical numbers were furnished by the Electro-Technic band, and the address of the morning was delivered by Rev. John R. Quinlan, pastor of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception.

PEACE PACT IS SIGNED AT LAST

Delegates Affix Signature to Preliminary Treaty in London.

LONG STRAIN ENDED

London, May 30.—The preliminary treaty of peace was signed at St. James palace today by the delegates of all the Balkan allies and of Turkey. Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, presided at the meeting.

Dr. S. Daneff, the Bulgarian peace delegate, in the course of an interview after the signature of the preliminary treaty of peace, said:

"I am rejoiced. It means not only Balkan peace, but general peace, and Europe is saved from one of the most thorny problems of the age.

"We owe a deep debt of gratitude to Sir Edward Grey, whose enduring and untiring mastery in treating diplomatic problems has brought about peace much sooner than some of us had expected."

The framing of the peace conference has been fixed for Monday, June 2.

CROWLESS ROOSTERS NEW ACHIEVEMENT OF SCIENCE.

Washington, May 30.—Cock-a-doodle-do-less roosters rendered absolutely soundless and which will solve the problem of light sleeping city dwellers annoyed early mornings by the neighbors' louday crowing cocks are now the subject of experiments by experts of the department of agriculture.

A correspondent who discovered the process of eliminating the cock's crow set the experts at work. A simple and painless operation of cutting one of the rooster's vocal chords does the trick, he says.

The rooster can fill his lungs and go through all the evolutions which accompany a hearty crow, but can make no sound.

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES HIMSELF PENS THIS MEMORIAL DAY MESSAGE FOR READERS OF THE SENTINEL.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

A great northern State did not hesitate to put the executive responsibilities of the Commonwealth in the hands of a Southerner, and the United States has not hesitated to put in the place of chief power in the Country itself a native of Virginia.

I should indeed be happy if I should be permitted to deem myself in some degree the instrument of drawing together the hearts of all men in the United States for the service of a nation that has neither region nor section, nor north nor South. I would fain believe that my selection as President by the people of the United States means the final obliteration of everything that may have divided the great sections of this country

Mr. Menter's Hat Takes a Trip

A total stranger.

"DOC" BOOKWALTER is one of the men who have an important part in the Memorial day affairs, but this important part is of such a quiet kind that comparatively few people know anything about it. Mr. Bookwalter is the man who tests the patriotism of the business men and others by touching their pocketbooks for contributions to defray the expenses of the public observance of the day. Those whom he visits contribute small amounts, and a sufficient number of people are seen in order that the drain may not be heavy on anyone.

Among the people called upon by Mr. Bookwalter during Wednesday was Tom D. Lane, of the Menter store. While presenting the matter to Mr. Lane, Mr. Bookwalter removed his hat and placed it upon Mr. Lane's desk. The subscription matter was soon settled, and Mr. Bookwalter departed on his happy way. A little while afterward Mr. Lane reached for his hat, as he wanted to go out, but he couldn't find his headgear. Another hat—a total stranger to Mr. Lane—lay on the desk. The manager determined at once that his own hat was probably being carried about on the busy pate of Mr. Bookwalter, who had picked it up by mistake. Then began a search for Mr. Bookwalter, which did not end until he was located at home at supper time. The hat was restored yesterday morning. Mr. Bookwalter, it seems, had been too busy to notice the exchange of tiles, and he was greatly surprised when he found that he had carried off the wrong cranium decoration.

EXPECT A FIGHT ON THE LICENSE

Monroe Township Forces Line Up to Defeat Ben McIntosh.

PETITIONS ON FILE

No chances were taken on the legal holiday proposition and before closing time at the court house Thursday afternoon the blanket remonstrance against opening a saloon in Monroe township was filed in the county auditor's office and will be presented in the commissioners' court on Monday morning.

At the same time a list containing 120 withdrawals was presented and if all of them stand the remonstrance, with 294 signatures, will be defeated. It is likely, however, that in the court names will be stricken from both the remonstrance and the withdrawal list and in any event a lively fight is anticipated.

Ben McIntosh formerly conducted a saloon at Monroeville and is an applicant for a license. A bitter fight was waged against him and found its way into court.

Hoagland will retain its saloon by the verdict of the voters of Madison township, who gave a "wet" majority of 95 Thursday.

Of 356 votes cast 127 were "dry" and 222 were "wet." The voting machine showed seven blanks.

Notes of the Courts.

Michael Gascheutz has filed suit against the Packard company to recover $1,500 damages for an alleged breach of contract. He declares he was employed as a decorator and finisher at a salary of $25 per week and moved his family here from New York. That the company failed to abide by his contract is his allegation. William Fruechtenicht filed the suit.

Arthur Henline has been cited to appear before Judge Carl Yaple to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court for his failure to pay alimony as ordered in a divorce decree obtained by his wife.

WILL VACATE STREET.

Board Starts Work of Providing New Yard Room for Pennsylvania.

Resolutions were adopte at the board of public works meeting last night for the vacation of ends of Doyle, Hartman and Cornells streets to provide new yard roo mfor the Pennsylvania company which has bought the adjoining property. The ends of Rockhill and Union streets will also be vacated to provide a team track to be constructed on the company's property.

The widening of Dayton avenue, from Fairfield avenue to South Wayne, was postponed a week. Property owners affected were at the session and held a meeting, but were unable to reach an agreement.

A petition, asking that Fair street from Mechanic street west to the St. Mary's river, be vacated, was taken under advisement.

Plans were ordered for cement sidewalks on the east side of Oliver street, from Thayer to Horace; paving the alley between Wildwood an Kinnaird, from Indiana to Beaver; the alley between Jefferson and Washington to Monroe, and cement sidewalks on the north side of Dayton avenue, from Indiana to Beaver.

A petition for paving Grant avenue, from Wayne street to Maumee avenue, was taken under advisement. The board promised immediate investigation of the petition filed several weeks ago for the opening of Sherman street, from High street to Pape avenue.

More than 200 members and their families attended the entertainment and reception given Thursday evening by Homestead lodge, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, at Odd Fellows hall. At the close of the program, under the direction of the ladies, a banquet was enjoyed.

HUNTS UP PALS OF DINNER PAIL DAY

Rich Mining Man Was Laborer and Poor Only Six Years Ago.

HAS MADE FORTUNE

Kansas City, May 30.—Jesse M. Short, one of Joplin's richest mining men, was a day laborer six years ago. He started drilling land two miles west of Webb City—land that had never his been mined. Mine operators laughed at him. Six months after he had laid down his pick and shovel as a laborer Jesse Short had an income from his own mines of more than $1,000 a week. The virgin ground he had opened has proved one of the richest zinc and lead camps in the district.

Sudden riches did not turn Jesse Short's head. To be sure, he built a fine home for his family and the old white horse he had driven to and from his work for years gave way to motor cars, but he never forgot the "boys" he had shared dinner buckets with away down in the mine drifts in days agone.

When he built a new mining plant he invariably hunted up his old "buddies"—as they call their pals in the mines—and made superintendents of them. He got them to save their money and helped them obtain promising leases. He "put in" with them and with them as partners organized new companies.

Visitors to the mining district are always taken to Thomas station out west of Webb City to see Jesse Short's big mines. As the motor loads of visitors would drive up to the office, a ruddy-faced, strapping fellow in rough clothing, spattered with mine clay, would come out.

"Howdy folks," he would say. "Get down, come in and look around. Made thirty ton today."

That was Jesse Short.

Within the past four years Short has developed five of the biggest mining properties in the Webb City-Joplin district. They are the Pocohontas, the Sitting Bull, the Geronimo, the Powhattan and the Wanita Pearl.

The Sitting Bull's record of one day's production has never been duplicated in the district. The Pocohontas is now the most productive mine in the district.

Elephant and Tiger Trumpet Opposition to "Hansel and Gretel."

Milwaukee, Wis., May 30.—While the Chicago Grand Opera company was presenting "Hensel and Gretel" at the Milwaukee City auditorium strange noises were supposed by a critical audience to be part of the stage effects. Here is the answer. A small circus, practicing for its road season opening, was quartered in the basement of the auditorium and the big Chicago orchestra's thrumming roused the elephant and the tiger to trumpeting protest at the interruption to their slumbers. So realistic was the roaring as part of the opera that one newspaper critic criticised the managers for the noise-producing machinery.

HATS OFF TO "BETSY" HEN.

Proud Queen of Dobbs Ferry Flock Lays Two a Day.

New York, May 30.—Hatsoff! Other raisers of poultry, stand aside and listen to the story of H. S. Cant, druggist, of Dobbs Ferry! A hen in Cant's employ has laid 192 eggs since February 1. This is an average of two every week day, excepting Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays and St. Patrick's day. This hen, whose name is Betsy, is the busiest employe Cant ever saw. On February 1 she was found sitting on sixteen eggs she laid outside the coop while working on her own time. The first egg Betsy lays each day has a hard shell and can be placed in storage. The second has a softer shell and will not permit of packing.

Rear Admiral Sigsbee's Own Story of the Sinking of the Maine

Gallant Commander, Last to Leave Doomed Battleship That Fatal Night, Himself Here Relates the Awful Event Being Commemorated in New York Today by the Unveiling of Great Memorial Monument Built by Citizens of the Whole United States.

(Editor's Note—The new memorial monument to the heroes of the U. S. Battleship "Maine," built with contributions from the people of the United States, was unveiled today in New York City.

The "Maine" was blown up in Havana harbor Feb. 15, 1898. Here is his own personal story of the horrible explosion, written by Rear Admiral Chas. D. Sigsbee, who was in charge of the battleship on that fatal night.)

By Rear Admiral Chas. D. Sigsbee.
(By Special Permission from the Century Co.)

On the night of the explosion, the Maine, lying in the harbor of Havana at the buoy where she was moored by the Spanish pilot on her entrance into the port, was heading in a direction quite unusual at least, for the Maine. In this connection it should be explained that Havana is in the region of the trade-wind, which, however, is not so stable there as farther eastward, especially in the winter months. On the night of the explosion the Maine was heading to the northward and westward, in the general direction of the Machina, or naval "sheers" near the admiral's palace. Some of the watch-officers said afterward that they had not before known her to head in that direction at Havana. Stated as a fact, the Maine was lying in the position in which she would have sprung to open her batteries on the shore fortifications. If an expert had been charged with mining the Maine's mooring-berth, purely as a measure of harbor defense, and having only one mine available, it is believed that he would have placed it under the position that the Maine occupied that night.

The atmosphere was heavy, and the weather unusually hot and sultry. All but four of the 26 officers were aboard and the members of the crew, 328 in number, were on board as usual. The crew, excepting those on watch or on post, were turned in.

I was in my quarters sitting on the after-side of the table in the port or admiral's cabin. About an hour before the explosion I had completed a report called for by Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, on the advisability of continuing to place torpedo-tubes on board cruisers and battleships. I then wrote a letter home.

At taps ("turn in and keep quiet") ten minutes after nine o'clock I laid down my pen to listen to the notes of the bugle, which were singularly beautiful in the oppressive stillness of the night.

I was inclosing the letter in its envelope when the explosion came. To me, in my position, well aft, and within the superstructure, it was a bursting, rending and crashing sound or roar of immense volume, largely metallic in character. It was followed by a succession of heavy, ominous, metallic sounds, probably caused by the overturning of the central superstructure and by falling debris. There was a trembling and lurching of the vessel, a list to port and a movement of subsidence. The electric lights, of which there were eight in the cabin where I was sitting, went out. Then there was intense blackness and smoke.

The situation could not be mistaken; the Maine was blown up and sinking. For a moment the instant of self preservation took charge of me, but this was immediately dominated by the habit of command. I went up the inclined deck into the starboard cabin, toward the starboard airports, which were faintly relieved against the background of the sky. The sashes were out, and the openings were large. My first intention was to escape through an airport, but this was abandoned in favor of the more dignified way of making an exit through the passageway leading forward through the superstructure. I groped my way through the cabin into the passage, and along the passage to the outer door. The passage turned to the right, or starboard, near the forward part of the superstructure.

At the turning, some one ran into me violently. I asked who it was. It was Private William Anthony, the orderly at the cabin door. He said something apologetic and reported that the ship had been blown up and was sinking. He was directed to go out on the quarterdeck and I followed him. He hung near me with unflagging zeal and watchfulness that night until the ship was abandoned.

I stood for a moment on the starboard side of the main deck, forward of the after-superstructure, looking toward the immense dark mass that loomed up amidships, but could see nothing distinctly. There I remained for a few seconds in an effort to grasp the situation, and then asked Anthony for the exact time. He replied: "The explosion took place at nine-forty, sir." It was soon necessary to retire from the main deck, for the after-part of the ship was sinking rapidly. I then went up to the poop-deck. By this time Lieutenant Commander Wainwright and others were near me. Everybody was impressed by the solemnity of the disaster, but there was no excitement apparent; perfect discipline prevailed.

The question has been asked many times if I believed then that the Maine was blown up from the outside. My answer to this has been that my first order on reaching the deck was to post sentries about the ship. I knew then that the Maine had been blown up, and believed that she had been blown up from the outside. Therefoe I ordered a measure which was intended to guard against attack. There was no need of order, but I am writing of first impressions. There was the sound of many voices from the shore, suggestive of cheers.

I stood on the starboard side-rail of the poop and held on to the main-rigging in order to see over the poop-awning, which was bagged more completely. The officers were near me and showing a courteous recognition of my authority and responsibility. Directions were given in a low tone to Executive Officer Wainwright, who himself gave orders quietly and directed operations.

Fire broke out in the mass amidships. Orders were given to flood the forward magazine, but the forward part of the ship was found to be under water. Inquiry as to the after-magazines and the gunccttion magazine in the after-part of the ship showed a like condition of those compartments, as reported by those who had escaped from the ward-room and junior officers' quarters. In the captain's pantry in the after-superstructure there was spare ammunition. It was seen that this would soon be submerged, and that precautions in respect to the magazines were unnecessary.

The great loss of life was not fully realized. Our eyes were not yet accustomed to the darkness. Most of us had come from the glare of the electric lights. The flames increased in the central superstructure, and I directed Lieutenant-Commander Wainwright to make an effort to play streams on the fire if practicable. He went forward on the poop-awning, accompanied by Lieutenant Hood and Naval Cadets Boyd and Cluverius, making a gallant inspection of the region of the fire, but was soon obliged to report that nothing could be done. The fire mains and all ther facilities were destroyed, and men were not available for the service.

We then began to realize more clearly the full extent of the damage. One of the smoke-stacks was lying in the water on the starboard side. Although it was almost directly under me, I had not at first identified it. As my eyes became more accustomed to the darkness, I could see, dimly, white forms on the water and hear faint cries for help.

Realizing that the white forms were our own men, boats were lowered at once and sent to the assistance of the injured and drowing men. Orders were given, but they were hardly necessary; the resourceful intelligence of the officers suggested correct measures in the emergency. Only three of our fifteen boats were available—the barge, the captain's gig and the whale-boat. The barge was badly injured. Two of these were manned by officers and men jointly. How long they were gone from the ship I cannot recall, but probably fifteen minutes. Those of us who were left on board remained quietly on the poop-deck.

It was a hard blow to be obliged to leave the Maine; none of us desired to leave while any part of her poop remained above water. We waited until satisfied that she was resting at the bottom of the harbor. Lieutenant-Commander Wainwright then whispered to me that he thought the forward ten-inch magazine had been thrown up into the burning material amidships and might explode at any time, with further disastrous effects. He was then directed to get everybody into the boats, which was done. It was an easy operation, one had only to step directly from the deck into the boat. Lieutenant-Commander Wainwright stood on one side and Lieutenant Holman on the other; each offered me a hand. I suggested the propriety of my being the last to leave, and requested them to precede me, which, they did. There was favorable comment later in the press because I left last. It is a fact that I was the last to leave, which was only proper; that is to say, it would have been improper otherwise; but virtually all left last.

After the muster that night it was repoted to me that only 84 or 85 survivors could be found. Later summary shows that only 16 of the crew were wholly unhurt. Two officers and 250 men were killed. One hundred and two people were saved, but later eight of these died in Havana.

None can know the awful scenes of consternation, despair, and suffering down in the forward compartments of the stricken ship; of men wounded, or droning in the swirl of water. But from those so favorably situated that escape was possible, much may be gathered to enable us to form a conception of the general chaos. It is comforting to believe that most of those who were lost were killed instantly; and it is probably true, also, for many of the wounded who recovered had no knowledge of the explosion; they remembered no sensations, except that they awoke and found themselves wounded and in a strange place.

BY FATHER CHIDWICK

CHAPLAIN OF THE BATTLESHIP MAINE, WHO WILL LAY THE WREATH ON THE NEW MEMORIAL MONUMENT TODAY.

The eloquence of silence surrounds the awful tragedy of the Maine. Her crew met their fate in the service of God, humanity and country. These fifteen years since that time have been momentous in their history.

In their setting has come the freedom of Cuba, the exaltation of our country, the extension of her territory for beneficent purposes, the enlargement of her influence in the councils of the world for the enrichment of the human race.

We must not fail to bestow upon the heroes of the Maine a tribute of remembrance for their share in this new epoch of freedom and we must proclaim their sacrifice to be a glory to their country and a blessing to all mankind to come.

I shall recall the catastrophe in a few words. Its horrors impressed all Americans too vividly ever to be forgotten.

The dark, starless night—Havana startling with light and gay with pleasure—its people apparently careless of the war waged just beyond the city limits—the harbor dark and quiet, the silence broken only by the occasional cries and pulling of oars—our men asleep in the hammocks—suddenly the fatal flash—the loud report—the bursting forth of flames—the bodies of men with fragments of the ship shooting into the air and then the cry of the wounded, drowning and dying!

Our men went to their post of duty aware of the danger, but glad to serve their flag. They were prepared for any action which might be required of them and, although they were stricken in their sleep, without even a chance to pull the lock spring of a gun, they died at the post of duty in the interest of the people.

We thank God that we did not unjustly accuse the nation with which we are now at peace of the crime committed in waters under her protection. We thank God for the strength which made passion wait on investigation and give time for wiser and truer counsel.

The Maine was truly an altar of sacrifice; the men were truly a holocaust, but the glory which they throw upon the flag might have borne a stain had we sent our soldiers forth only with vengeance in their hearts.

TALE OF RICHES WON HER.

Wealthy Husband, Sued by Widow, Unable to Pay Alimony.

New York, May 30.—Dare Shannon Charlot, the girl wife of Alphonse C. Charlot, a mine promoter, reputed to be wealthy, but who is now in Ludlow street jail for failing to pay alimony, was in the supreme court to testify in a separation action. The trial of the case was postponed. "I have just received evidence," said Mrs. Charlot, "that shows my husband was divorced by his first wife in Colorado in 1889 for 'extreme cruelty.' I did not know until recently that he had ever been married before. I certainly was 'taken in' by his tales of millions. He made me believe I would have all the luxuries of a queen, but before the honeymoon was over he had me in a rough mining camp in Mexico."

DAILY FOOD COSTS 19 CENTS.

Pacific Student Extravagant Compared With 9-Cent Man.

Pacific University, Forest Grove, Ore., May 30.—Wynne Grathwell, a student of Pacific university and a member of the debating team, this year has been quite extravagant in comparison with the college professor who subsists on 9 cents a day. Mr. Grathwell this year has averaged spending between 18 and 19 cents a day. He eats for bearkfast a wheat biscuit and one glass of milk. For dinner (at noon) he has a raw egg, a glass and a half of milk and about two cents worth of dates. For supper he takes soda crackers, one glass of milk and puffed wheat. This diet has in no way impaired his health, for he is a constant trainer for the track and is out for the 220 on field day.

PEDESTALS SHY OF HEROES.

Seven Nations Have Failed to Contribute for Washington Building.

Washington, May 29.—Only thirteen of the twenty-one republics on the western hemisphere which form the Pan-American union, have raised statues of their national heroes in the magnificent marble building here devoted to advancing the interest of panamericanism. In the main hall of the building stand twenty-one marble pedestals. On ten of them are busts of chosen national heroes, while three other Latin-American countries have selected the subjects to be thus honored. George Washington is this country's contribution to the hall of American republic fame. Bolivar, who achieved the independence of Colombia, Peru and Bolivar, as well as of Venezuela, is the representative of the last named country.

WAS ARRESTED ON SEVEN CHARGES

D. C. Scott, Druggist at South Whitley, Indicted for Alleged Violations of the Liquor Law.

Columbia City, Ind., May 30.—D. C. Scott, a well known druggist, of South Whitley, was arrested yesterday by Sheriff Marion Egolf on seven warrants issued by the county clerk on indictments that were returned by the last grand jury and upon filing bond with good security with the sheriff, Mr. Scott was immediately given his liberty.

Druggist Scott is charged in the seven indictments with operating a "blind tiger," and in addition to this he is charged with selling liquor in less quantities than a quart at a time, and is also charged with selling to minors and men who were in the habit of becoming intoxicated.

About two years ago Mr. Scott was found guilty in the circuit court on a charge of selling liquor to a person who was in the habit of becoming intoxicated and was fined $50 and costs by the jury.

WILL SELL $35,000 BONDS.

Kendallville, Ind., May 30.—Special ordinance No. 415, providing for the issuance of $35,000 in bonds to pay for the new electric light and waterworks plant, was passed by the city council at a special session.

WELLS COUNTY IMPROVEMENTS.

Bluffton, Ind., May 30.—The board of commissioners yesterday received bids and awarded contracts for eighteen gravel roads in Wells county, and the total for the eighteen contracts amounts to $88,738.02, about $20,000 below the estimate.

HAS POSITION IN ILLINOIS.

Delphos, O., May 30.—Prof. E. L. Mendenhall, formerly superintendent of the Delphos Public schools, has accepted an offer from the board of education at Toulon, Ill., and will be superintendent of the Toulon Township high and City schools. He resigned as superintendent here one year ago.

OSSIAN NEWS.

Ossian, Ind., May 30.—A pretty wedding took place Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Summers, of Mills street, when their daughter, Miss Blanch Summers, and Mr. Mereith Aldred, of Bluffton, were united in marriage by Rev. Frank K. Baker, pastor of the Ossian Presbyterian church. Miss Lulu Summers, a sister of the bride, and Mr. Charles Aldred, an uncle of the groom, were the attendants. Miss Myrtle Aldred, a cousin of the groom, sang "O Promise Me" before the ceremony and she was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. John Ryan, a sister of the groom. As the bridal party entered the parlor the wedding music from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Phoebe Summers, a sister of the bride. The bridesmaid, Miss Lulu Summers, was gowned in pale pink and carried pink sweetpeas. The bride presented a beautiful appearance in her wedding gown of white crepe voile over white silk. The bridal bouquet was of bride roses. There were present about fifty guests, including uncles, aunts, cousins and a few intimate friends of the bride and groom. After the exchange of felicitations a two-course luncheon was served. The house was decorated in the bride's colors of pink and white. The bride and groom left Thursday evening on a short wedding trip after which they will spend the summer as guests of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Aldred, of Lapel, Ind., and will go to housekeeping in the fall at Bluffton, Ind., where Mr. Aldred is the teacher of English in the Bluffton High school. The bride is one of the pretty and accomplished young ladies of Ossian, a graduate of Indiana university, and a successful teacher in Wells county. Both bride and groom are young people of excellent character and both have hosts of friends. The out-of-town guests in attendance were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Aldred, Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. David Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Aldred, Miss Myrtle Aldred, Mr. John Aldred, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Conrad and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Busby, Mr. Charles Aldred and Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarty, all of Lapel, Ind.; Mr. Clarence Wright, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Aldred, Indianapolis; Mr. R. W. Koontz, North Manchester; Miss Marie Christman, Tiffin, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Yelton, Liberty Center, Ind.; Miss Hattie Lipkey, Markle; Mr. and Mrs. Silas Miller, Mendon, O.; Mr. and Mrs. William Davison, Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Miller, Craigville; Mr. and Mrs. John Rex, Decatur; Miss Laura Kreigh, Fort Wayne; Miss Della Davison, Fort Wayne; Mr. John Mills, Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe R. Foland and daughter, Barbara, Noblesville, Ind., and Mr. J. Wayne Summers, Lafayette.

ACCUSES MOTHER OF ARSON.

Porter County Man Says Aged Woman Burned Barn on Farm.

Michigan City, Ind., May 30.—A charge of arson was filed in the circuit court at Valparaiso yesterday by a Michigan City attorney against Mrs. Wilhelmina Tetzlaff, of this city. The affidavit was made by William Tetzlaff, of Porter county, son of the defendant. He alleges that his mother, who is 79 years old, fired the barn on the Tetzlaff farm in Porter county last Friday night, causing a loss of $4,000. The court action was the result of an inquiry here yesterday by a commission which found Mrs. Tetzlaff was sane. Tetzlaff claims to have witnesses who saw his mother in the vicinity of the farm on the night of the fire, and her relatives here say that she was not at home that night.

Mrs. Tetzlaff owns a life estate in the farm and was ousted three months ago when her son had a receiver appointed and himself installed in charge of the property, because, as he alleged, Mrs. Tetzlaff was letting it depreciate.

HEAVY TRAFFIC BY INTERURBAN

Fort Wayne Well Represented at Indianapolis for the Races.

MANY VISITORS HERE

Fort Wayne is well represented today at Indianapolis for the 500 mile speedway races. Hundreds of auto enthusiasts motored to the scene of the world's greatest track race, while all outgoing cars over the lines of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana early this morning, and over the Lake Erie and Western, carried great crowds, all bound for the capital city.

Officials of the traction company say that they underestimated the probable traffic to Indianapolis, and when the special for the races left the city at 4 o'clock this morning, passengers were fairly hanging on the roof and platform. The Fort Wayne attendance at the speedway far exceeds that of last year or the year previous.

Traffic is unusually heavy on all interurban lines operating into Fort Wayne. The number of visitors here for the horse races and other special events of the day, make up for the absence of citizens who have gone to Indianapolis or other points to spend their holiday. All incoming cars are crowded with passengers.

Several specials have been operated to Winona, carrying passengers over the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana to Peru, and thence to their destination, to attend the annual district session of the Dunkard church.

SECOND JURY DISAGREES.

Trial of Gibson on Murder Charge Again Comes to Naught.

Newburgh, N. Y., May 30.—The jury in the case of Burton W. Gibson after deliberating for nearly twenty-five hours, was discharged late yesterday afternoon, unable to agree as to his guilt on a charge of murdering Mrs. Rosa Sczabo. At a previous trial the jury was unable to agree.

The jurors told Supreme Court Justice Tompkins that they were hopelessly deadlocked. The court in releasing them, remanded Gibson to the Goshen jail. Mrs. Gibson, who has been constantly in attendance on her husband during the trial, was not in court to hear the final report of the jury.

Decoration Day.

Today the steadily thinning "line of blue" marches away once more to lay memory's tribute upon the hallowed ground where comrades sleep. There are breaks in the ranks of the marchers since a year ago. The total of flag-marked graves is larger, and those who respond to the call of a solemn duty today seem a trifle more feeble than when they last joined in this sacred service. But to these honored veterans who, better than any one else, must realize the effect of the passing years in their own numbers there must come as compensating satisfaction the realization that the gratitude of the people to them is enduring.

We of today may very naturally be unable to quite grasp the spirit of the day as these old veterans know it. A new generation has arisen to whom the great war for the preservation of the nation has no personal and intimate import. The child born when Lee surrendered at Appomattox is today old enough to not only have children, but also grandchildren. At least two spans of life divide us from that "time that tried men's souls." Nevertheless, Decoration day has for all of us a very real meaning. To the diminishing ranks of the surviving veterans its significance needs no interpretation—it is the holiest thing of earthly life. But to the thoughtful folk of the generations born since the war today's commemoration brings full occasion to think of new duties in the spirit of the sires.

The experiment of government of the people, by the people and for the people is today more secure than when secession threatened it with flame and blood. Throughout a reunited land true democracy is marching majestically into its own—further advanced than ever before and striding steadily. We are by no means perfect, but we are making progress. It is ours to prepare to meet problems and to undergo tests comparable with those of half a century ago. It is true that today there is no call of grim war to summon American manhood to field of battle, and no factional strife to rend this land of ours in bloody conflict. Ours is a duty vastly different from that which called to the veterans of today more than half a century ago, but it is none the less a duty.

For Decoration day bids us not only remember the soldier's deeds of valor and of sacrifice to preserve the union. It commands us to perpetuate it as he preserved it, with the largest measure of freedom, liberty and equality before the law. We are making encouraging progress. Never since the days of the fathers have the American people been so moved to right wrongs, to insist upon fair play and to give every man a fair chance in government and in life as is the case today. We are seeking to have the government open new avenues of beneficent usefulness to the people, and to give the American citizen of today a constantly enlarged conception of his duties as a citizen. Occasionally we stumble. Governments are no more exempt from errors than are human beings. But we are moving in the right direction, and this Decoration day ought to give occasion for serious thought as to how we may do still more. The strewing of flowers upon the graves of the soldier dead and the reflection upon their patriotic devotion will lose much of its true purpose if it does not bring a realization of present-day duty for ourserves as well as of the valor of those whose patriotism is enshrined in the pages of eternal history.

THE PEOPLE AND THE LOBBY.

(Indianapolis News.)

In his brave charge against the lobby at Washington which is trying to rob the people of their rights, President Wilson, as we have already noted, said one among many other things that is seldom said and that reveals the danger to which popular causes are constantly exposed—that the people have no lobby and are voiceless in these great matters, while great bodies of astute men seek to create a false public opinion and overcome the interests of the people for their own private profit.

There is one of the practical difficulties that attends every legislature of whatever kind. The railroads, the breweries and other private interests are represented by expert lawyers who seek to confuse, and sometimes to corrupt legislation, while there is no one to say a word for the popular cause except a free press. It does not touch the case to say that the legislators themselves are the representatives of the people and should be their lobby in the true sense. They may be, but in being representatives of the people they represent also bodies of people in artificial association such as railroads and all industry. And these must be fairly treated as well as the unorganized people at large. The objection is not here, but in the fact that the organized interests have special lobbies, personal representatives, smart lawyers who sell their brains and experience to overcome a wavering member, to persuade sometimes by material opportunities of personal advancement, and so befoud judgment. Thus the special interests are doubly represented and that too on legislation that is for their benefit. These interests want undue advantage, undue taxation of all the people for their special benefit and they have their expert lobbies to get this.

But there is yet one resource which, though hidden, is powerful. It is that intelligent citizens shall daily watch the course of events, shall learn from the press what is doing and shall write personal letters to their representatives. This may appear small, but really it is very great, just as the rain drops, though small, if sufficient in number, make a tremendous downpour. So a sufficient number of intelligent citizens doing their duty in this way, not once on one thing, but repeatedly on many things, can go far to offset and upset any lobby. Already the senate is beginning to feel the effect of the future choice of senators directly by the people, and the members are changing their attitude. So there is great encouragement that even the present most powerful lobby that Washington has ever seen may be driven back by President Wilson's address to the country and by the continued bombardment of senators and representatives with letters from the people.

MR. HILL'S BOND PLAN.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

St. Paul seems to be prolific in devices for the sale of bonds. Besides the experiment of having them sold over the counter of a department store another suggested by James J. Hill has been tentatively adopted with fair success.

This was to cut up $100 bonds into ten $10 certificates and sell the latter to buyers who have less than $100 to invest. This appeals to the working people. It affords them a chance to put their savings into a security at better than savings bank interest and with security that is unimpeachable. At the experimental sale $10,000 worth of bonds were taken by 107 purchasers.

Such an arrangement is also good for the cities. It enables them to sell their bonds without discount and accomplishes a good effect in having its debt held by its own people. That city, county or state is in the best condition whose bond issues are taken by its own working people as an investment for their savings.

Mr. Hill is, therefore, to be congratulated on his idea, though it may have one collateral effect of adverse nature. Should the practice become general and Mr. Hill in the future desire to float a railroad loan he might discover that he is persona non grata with the bond banking houses.

TACKLING A BIG JOB.

(Kansas City Times.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission is assembling a large force of engineers and expert accountants to embark on the gigantic task of ascertaining the value of the physical property of the railroads of the United States. It will cost several million dollars and require several years to complete the job, but it is well worth while. There are 238,000 miles of railroad lines, with 341,000 miles of track in the United States, with a net capitalization of 14 1-2 billion dollars representing a value of $61,508 a mile of road, and $41,204 a mile of track, in par value of securities outstanding.

The impression prevails in the public mind that the railroads are immensely overcapitalized, and that belief, of course, creates a feeling of public antipathy to the railroads whenever they seek to advance their rates, and whenever any controversy arises over the fairness of transportation charges. It is important, therefore, to ascertain through disinterested sources the actual value of the property of the railroads, to use as a starting point in all questions that arise as to whether they are getting fair compensation for the services they perform.

NORTHERN SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

SOLDIER OF THE UNION LAY DYING IN THE SOUTH
I AM VERY SORELY WOUNDED I SOON SHALL BE AT REST.
TELL MY MOTHER TELL MY SWEETHEART THAT I DID MY VERY BEST.
THEY FOUGHT SO HARD SO GALLANTLY THEY FOUGHT THROUGH THICK AND THIN
BUT THEY WILL SOON REGRET IT WE SHALL SAVE THEM FROM THEIR SIN.
AND HE ALSO DIED FOR HUMANITY, THIS NORTHERN SOLDIER.

PICTURE OF SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

By HENRY M. WILLIAMS.

My own design for a northern soldiers' monument to be erected at Chattanooga or Chickamauga, twelve miles south (duplicates in Fort Wayne, San Francisco and Seattle), is as follows: A tall standing figure of Christ with hand extended in blessing, above a bronze tablet showing a northern soldier dying, the hospital nurse at his side, with inscription above him:

"A Soldier of the Union Lay Dying in the South."

And below the picture this inscription:

"I am very sorely wounded, I soon shall be at rest.
Tell my mother, tell my sweetheart,
that I did my very best.
They fought so hard, so gallantly, they fought through thick and thin.
But they will soon forget it, we shall save them from their sin."

"And he also died for humanity, this northern soldier."

CREDIT.

I give more credit to myself and to my fellow soldiers of the north, than I give to our ancestral connections in the war of the revolution of 1776, who fought against the red coated English invaders, just as the south fought against us their blue coated invaders. Invaders always make defenders, anyone, everyone, will defend his home, his land, the soil from which he draws his living, three-fourths of the south were opposed to rebellion until invaded. But the soldier from the north, far away from home and friends, was fighting for three noble ideals, the success of the theory of representative popular government in all the world, the maintenance of the union of the states, and against the further continuance of human slavery; three noble ideals, and the union soldier died for humanity, far nobler than to die for country alone. I predict the southerners themselves will erect, soon, a monument in some southern city, with this inscription:

"To the brave, gallant, self-sacrificing devotion of the soldiers of the north, who saved us from ourselves, who saved us from the folly of our attempted destruction of the glorious union of the states, and from the folly of a blow at the theory of "representative popular government," in all the world, and from the crime of the attempted permanent maintenance of human slavery"—and Robert E. Lee and Jefferson Davis, at present the great heroes of the south, will have passed the summit of their fame, great failures, not great men—they, with others, directly accountable for a million deaths, as the first Napoleon, greedy for conquest was, solely and alone, for two million deaths accountable. What a contrast the mild and gentle Lincoln, mild but firm for the right, the greatest of "soldiers for the right."

CAN CALL FISH BY FIRST NAMES

Dr. Hugh M. Smith is Man Who Knows Most About the Finny Tribe.

IS NEW COMMISSIONER

By A. F. Ferguson.

Washington, May 30.—Speaking of fish there is the Honorable Hugh McCormick Smith. Not that he looks like a fish. Or has the tendency of fishiness of speech which more or less detracts from the people's estimate of men who sometimes burst into public life. But the Hon. Hugh has all the characteristics of a fish. Which is exactly why he gets his name in the paper.

HUGH M. SMITH.

It might seem odd that in these days of automobiles and aeroplanes and other up-to-date things a man should elect to rest all his claims to fame in the slippery vertebra of a fish. But that is what Hugh M. Smith has done.

When Woodrow Wilson was called upon to select some one to tell fish stories to the nation, when George M. Bowers was attacked with a fit of hoarseness, there was nothing for him to do but select Hugh M. Smith for the job Why? Because Smith had taken a flying start toward it the minute he saw there was something in it for him and was really and actually holding it down. Bowers quit the business of being United States commissioner of fisheries, with Smith standing right at his elbow as assitant commissioner. It was no job, therefore, for Smith to drop into the newly vacated chair, reach for the telephone, ask "Central" to give him "Main 0" and inform Woodrow that he was there.

Hugh M. Smith knows so much about fish that he calls them pet names nobody else can understand. It's a reasonably safe bet that the Smith genealogical tree has a root extending into the water to help prove that all mankind is descended from the denizens of the deep. We have stated he had all the characteristics of a fish. He has. Smith is the author of more fish lore than anybody now living.

Also Smith has another claim to fame of no mean sort. He is a native of the District of Columbia and he's made good at some other line of endeavor. Very few natives of the District of Columbia ever get over it. There are only a few of them—maybe that's why. But Smith is one and he is also a graduate of the District's public schools, its high schools and Georgetown university, which is one of the District's foremost institutions of learning.

He started out to become a doctor and after going through all the college courses necessary took a second thought and became an ichthyologist. He entered the United States Fish Commission as an assistant 27 years ago. There are very few parts of the world where he hasn't been. Practically none where he isn't known and recognized as one of the greatest authorities on fish culture and all that has to do with life under water. Foreign governments have delighted to honor him and ask for his advice.

His appointment to the head of the United States Bureau of Fisheries is regarded as one of the very best President Wilson has made. Not only because it was made on the principle of promoting able men to fill vacancies as bureau chiefs. But because in this instance probably the ablest man in the world in his particular line has received the recognition his long years of labor and deep study deserve.

For Bright Eyes and Clear Nose

Remarkable Catarrh Cure That Gets Right into the Affected Parts and Stops Gatherings.

S. S. S. is a Wonder for the Eyes, Nose and Throat.

It is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antidotal remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sura Specific, or, as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, through all the veins and arteries, and enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in the process of purification.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infests the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 per bottle. It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, rash, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, boils, and all other diseased conditions of the blood. For special advice on any blood disease write in confidence to The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. of your druggist.

SOCIALISTS PLAN NEW TOWN.

Will Test Doctrines of Their Party at Milton, Okla.

Muskogee, Mich., May 30.—The socialists of Oklahoma are going to try to carry into practice by establishing a town of their own on the Fort Smith and Western railroad, four miles west of Bokoshe. Dr. S. T. Peet, of Muskogee, the socialist leader in the eastern part of Oklahoma, has closed a deal with John D. Bennett and Walter Laird for 260 acres, known as the town site of Milton. The socialists have agreed to buy the land from Laird, who is the Indian allottee, paying him from $50 to $100 a lot, and when all the lots are sold Laird agrees to turn over to them the deed to a coal mine on the town site. The mine will be owned in common, as will canning factories and small industries to be established.

SOLD PAPERS AT A PROFIT.

Lad Disposes of Entire Stock After Falling Under Auto.

Jake Wineburn, a well known newsie, attempted ot dodge from one automobile Thursday evening near the transfer corner and jumped directly in front of a machine driven by N. W. Bloom, of 1125 Columbia avenue. He fell beneath the car, but the wheels never touched him and he was uninjured. Crying a bit, not because he was run over, but because he had not disposed of all of his papers, his entire stock was purchased at more than their market value and later he was taken to his home, 1306 East Washington boulevard, in Mr. Bloom's automobile.

SPEEDER GETS $25 FINE IN COURT

George Huebner Pleads Guilty to Driving at Rate of 25 Miles.

INJURED REV. EVANS

George Huebner, of 230 Killea avenue, entered a plea of guilty in the city court today to driving his motorcycle at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour on West Main street Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock and Judge Mungovan assessed a fine of $25 and costs against him. He paid the fine. Huebner ran down and severely injured Rev. A. E. Evans at Fry and Main streets while traveling at the high rate of speed.

Rev. Evans, Huebner's victim, is improving at St. Joseph's hospital today, and Dr. George B. Stemen, who is attending him, says his patient will recover. However, his condition may take a turn for the worse, as Dr. Stemen discovered this morning that the minister is injured internally about the chest.

The accident happened at Fry and Main streets at 9:30 o'clock when, as Rev. Evans, with Rev. C. O. Shirey, Rev. T. P. Potts and Rev. Edward Montgomery, was returning from the Bethany Presbyterian church, where Rev. Shirey was installed. Rev. Evans was in the act of mounting his bicycle on Main street at the intersection of Fry street when the motorcyclist dashed into him and threw him several feet. He alighted head foremost just in front of a car which was standing on the tracks. The other ministers were boarding the car when Rev. Evans was struck.

When Dr. Stemen examined the minister's injuries at St. Joseph's hospital last night he found that the head had been severely bruised, causing a slight concussion, although there is no depression of the skull, as Rev. Evans is entirely conscious and rational today. Other injuries consist of internal injuries about the chest, a puncture to the bone on the left thigh and bruises and lacerations about the legs and arms. All of the hurts are healing nicely, and there is slight danger to the injured man unless unforeseen developments arise.

Several witnesses to the accident told the police officers last night that in their estimation Huebner was traveling at the rate of forty miles an hour just before striking Rev. Evans, but the motorcyclist maintains that he threw out his clutch before the accident occurred and was not going faster than five to eight miles an hour when he struck the minister. Roy McCormick, who was riding on the tandem seat of the machine, also testified in court this morning that their speed was not great at the time.

Huebner is said by the police to be a reckless driver and frequently drives his machine at a terrific rate in the suburbs of the city. Citizens have registered many complaints about his driving, but he has never been arrested before. According to the police he struck a buggy about a year ago and threw a young woman who was the occupant.

of court. Col. Roosevelt, who is suing George A. Newett for libel, had no set program for the day except the negative one that he would make no public appearance.

Including witnesses already heard and depositions and witnesses to come, the plaintiff's testimony as to Col. Roosevelt's sobriety will cover his life from young manhood to the present time. The record of the case will include his conduct in public offices all the way up to the white house, his appearance on public occasions and on travels aggregating many thousands of miles, and the seclusion of his private life, scarcely without a break.

Cross examination yesterday was alert to test the memory of witnesses and particularly to make them show that there were real grounds for their declarations of the colonel's sobriety. The newspaper men were searched to show how intimate they had been with the plaintiff; the rough rider and the naturalist were asked how close their sleeping tents were to that of their chief, the lawyers trying to discover if there had not been periods when witnesses could not have known whether the plaintiff was drinking.

Pinchot was anxious to explain just why he considered himself an authority on the colonel's habits and Attorney Pound accordingly framed the proper question. The former chief forester then explained that he was a student of efficiency, and that, finding Colonel Roosevelt to be a sample of that quality studied him to discover whence it came. To this purpose he observed the colonel's eating habits, what he drank, how and what he read; how he exercises, how he transacted business; in short, every detail which might further the study. He felt qualified, therefore to declare that the plaintiff was a man of unusually abstemious habits. Like Garfield and like the newspaperman, Thompson, he declared that the colonel could never have got drunk without his knowing it.

Thompson told of campaign trips he had made with Colonel Roosevelt and of having been instructed particularly by his paper to study the colonel's habits, how he said things rather than to quote his words; how the crowds and auditors seemed to take is utterances. Thompson testified that, having faithfully "covered" the assignment, he knew that on these trips Colonel Roosevelt could not have become intoxicated without his knowing it.

Unusual interest centered in Mr. Garfield, the son of a president of the United States, testifying in court for a man who had been president. A larger crowd than usual was attracted by the hint that Mr. Garfield would go on the stand, but the overflow crowd having learned that there is no hope when Sheriff Moloney locks the doors, dispersed more rapidly than had been the case previously.

BANDITS SLAY BUT LOSE LOOT

Masked Men Hold Up Zinc Concern Pay Rigs Near LaSalle, Ill.

SHOOT 4; THEN FLEE

La Salle, Ill., May 30.—Four masked bandits held up pay rigs of the Illinois Zinc company five miles southeast of here yesterday afternoon, killed one man and wounded three others, but $6,000 in cash for semi-monthly pay of 160 miners was saved by a wild dash of a wounded officer under fire of the robbers, who escaped. The dead:

BEN DIERKS, former police chief of Peru, Ill., acting as a guard of Zinc company men; instantly killed by bandits.

The wounded:

Elmer West, clerk Illinois Zinc company, shot in head, neck and chest; brought to St. Mary's hospital, La Salle; condition very serious.

F. D. Richmond, civil engineer Zinc company, shot in back; flesh wounds; shot removed and able to help pay off men.

Henry Oeslerle, employe of company, glancing shot in head; also shot in arm and body; condition not serious.

Money for the pay roll was sent to Black Hollow mine in two buggies in charge of these four men. A mile from the destination a gang of robbers sprang up from the brush surrounding the roadway. Without attempting to take the money from the vehicles the robbers opened fire on the quartet of guards. The bandits used automatic shotguns and the first shots killed Dierks, who was driving the second buggy. West also fell at the first volley.

Richmond, who was in the rig with West and the money, whipped up the horse and fled, while the robbers stood in the middle of the road and continued to fire at him. As soon as they saw the first buggy making a successful escape, the bandits left the other one unmolested and fled through the woods. When Dierks fell dead in the second vehicle Oesterle grabbed the reins, whipped up his horse and followed the other rig to the Zinc company's mine, where they turned the money over to officials. The miners were paid off and then joined in searching for the robbers. Police officials from La Salle and Peru started for the scene in automobiles equipped with rifles. Just as searching parties were starting Sheriff Mischke was reached and he accompanied the pursuers. Messages were sent to Springfield for bloodhounds. In the meantime, the place of the hold-up was guarded by watchmen, so that it would be untouched when the hounds arrived.

That the bandits were former zinc miners familiar with the system of paying at the zinc plant is the opinion of the police. The officers point to the fact that the robbers apparently knew the paymaster and his assistants and therefore covered their faces to prevent recognition. It is pointed out also that the thieves seemed to know the buggy where the money bags were carried.

Four men, thought to be the bandits, overpowered William Morris, a fisherman, and crossed the Illinois river in his boat a mile north of the scene of the shooting. Morris reported the flight of the men to Sheriff Mischke. The men, according to Morris, appeared suddenly and demanded his boat a short time after the attempted holdup.

Boys searching between the river and the road later found a repeating shotgun, a long barreled revolver, a hunting coat, a short overcoat and two derby hats.

The Oldest Veteran.

The oldest New York veteran of the American army paraded today, with the work horses instead of with the colors. Emmanuel Oppenheimer, 103 years old, possesses medals for distinguished service in the Mexican war, but he and his 101 years old wife are prouder of their example and service to the country, through 79 years of married life, than through his service at arms. The Oppenheimers are believed to be the oldest couple in New York city. They rode today behind Lady Kate, a work horse in active service here for twenty years.

GATHER AT GETTYSBURG.

Ten Thousand on Historic Field for Observance of Day.

Gettysburg, Pa., May 30.—Ten thousand people gathered at Gettysburg today for the annual Memorial day observance. This afternoon a parade of civic and patriotic organizations with veterans of the civil and Spanish-American wars and the Third battalion of the Fifth U. S. regular infantry preceded the strewing of flowers and ceremonies in the soldiers' national cemetery. The exercises at the rostrum included the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address and the oration by Congressman J. T. Heflin, of Alabama.

STILL ABLE TO TRUDGE ALONG.

Chicago Veterans Resent Invitation to Ride in Autos.

Chicago, May 30.—Fifteen hundred Union veterans are expected to be in line this afternoon when the Memorial day parade swings into Michigan avenue at 26th street. Many of them will ride in automobiles, more than in previous years, but there is still a large percentage who will demonstrate their ability to trudge along. A few remain who will play in the fife and drum corps. Some of the veterans became indignant yesterday when asked to ride in motor cars.

CONFEDERATES HAVE PART.

Men of the South Join Those of North in Boston Program.

Boston, Mass., May 30.—Confederate and Union veterans of the Civil war paid tribute in Boston today to the soldier and sailor dead.

Members of the Old Guard of Atlanta, guests of the E. W. Kinsley post, No. 113, G. A. R., participated in the Memorial day exercises at the state house, on Boston commons, and in Tremont temple.

Events of the Day.

In the exercises this morning at the park, in the parade this afternoon and in the ceremonies to follow at Lindenwood cemetery, all Fort Wayne is cooperating with the soldiers in honoring the living and paying a loving tribute to the deceased veterans, whose graves have been covered with flowers and flags as an offering for their valiant and loyal services rendered during that war of all wars in this new land, and in memory of their deeds of heroism.

For the first time in the history of Fort Wayne members of a foreign organization are participating in the ceremonies of Decoration day. In the parade this afternoon will appear the Sentinela-Roumania, an organization of Roumanians, 114 in number, who declare that they are now citizens of the United States and desire in this manner to exhibit their patriotism.

All other military organizations in the city, and all associate societies will join in the procession this afternoon which leaves on the march to Lindenwood at 1:30 o'clock, under the direction of Chief Marshal Captain S. S. Kelker and his assistants.

Afternoon Program.

The line of march for the parade will be as follows:

From Berry street south on Barr to Washington, west on Washington to Calhoun, north on Calhoun to Columbia, west on Columbia to Harrison, south on Harrison to Berry, west on Berry to Rockhill, north on Rockhill to Main and thence west to Lindenwood cemetery.

The services at Lindenwood will open when three little girls, Mabel M. Griffin, Jaunita Hunkey and Jessie Winning decorate the cenotaph in honor of the unknown dead.

The ritualistic exercises will be held under the auspices of the Captain James B. White camp, Sons of Veterans, who also have charge of the entire observance today. Comrade E. G. Anderson will read "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address," and prior to the military salute and taps, songs will be rendered by the Dudley Buck quartet.

Mayor Grice will act as president of the day at the cemetery and will open the program at the speakers' stand. Rev. Philip Vollmer, jr., will offer prayer and the address of the day will be delivered by Rev. A. J. Folsom, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church. Rev. W. A. Griest will pronounce the benediction.

Graves Are Bedecked.

Early today the graves of veterans in all the cemeteries about the city were strewn with wreaths and flowers and flags as a loving memento from those who cherish their patriotic example to the citizenship of today.

Busines Houses Closed.

Business has been suspended today while the employes of various stores and manufacturing institutions are enjoying a holiday. About the only institutions that are open in the downtown district, are the drug stores and shining parlors.

Hundreds of Fort Wayne people have flocked to the parks and many have gone to spend the day at nearby watering resorts. Officials of the traction company anticipate a heavy traffic to Robison park this afternoon and tonight, and have arranged for a regular two-minute car service.

HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION.

Morning Musical Society Selects Officers for Ensuing Year.

A meeting of active members of the Morning Musical society was held this morning in the studio of Mrs. W. H. Peltier and officers for the ensuing year were elected with few changes from those who have had the business in charge previously. The result of the election:

President, Mrs. Clark Fairbank; first vice president, Mrs. C. H. Worden; second vice president, Mrs. Walter Meavey; third vice president, Mrs. W. H. Crighton; recording secretary, Mrs. C. A. Norton; corresponding secretary, Miss Lillian Lapp; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Peltier; librarian, Mrs. B. W. Rhamy. The program committee is composed of Mrs. D. F. Urbahns, Mrs. Henry Renke and Mrs. Maurice Dukes. On the piano committee are Mrs. L. V. Ulrey, Mrs. F. E. Stouder, Mrs. H. G. Keegan, Mrs. H. H. Rogers, Miss Kay Spencer, Miss Donnelly, Miss Hiser and Miss Nussbaum.

TEXAS MAN GETS PLACE.

Thad A. Thompson to Be Minister to Colombia.

Washington, May 30.—Thad A. Thompson, a wealthy and prominent business man of Austin, Tex., has been selected for United States minister to Colombia to succeed James T. Dubois. Mr. Thompson was a delegate to the Baltimore convention, and has been an active worker in the democratic ranks. He is a personal friend of Postmaster General Burleson.

The controversy between the United States and Colombia over the partition of Panama from the latter country will be a problem Mr. Thompson will have to handle. Secretary Bryan declared a few days ago, after having had several conferences with Senor Betancourt, Colombian minister here, that negotiations looking to an agreement with the South American republic would not be begun until a minister had been selected.

STUDENTS GO TO LAKE JAMES.

Seventy-five High School Pupils Take Annual Outing.

Seventy-five high school students went to Lake James this morning at 5 o'clock on the Lake Shore on the annual excursion of the senior class of the school. Some of the students will remain over Saturday and Sunday at the resort, but the most of the excursionists will return to Fort Wayne tonight at 10:30 o'clock. The Lake Shore ran a special coach on the morning train for the high school scholars. This is the first time the seniors have spent their outing at Lake James, the excursion in former years having been run to Sylvan lake at Rome City.

was the combat on the field of battle in the war between the states."

He added that the question of the right of the states to secede and the right of the union to prevent it, the status of rights and relationship between states and federal government, "could not be determined in the councils of peace; it had to be settled by the arbitrament of the sword."

A Harmonious Household.

"The republic once abounding with conflicting opinions as to state and federal rights and powers," he continued, "is today the harmonious household of sovereign states, the home of a brave and happy people. Here we bow with solemn reverence in honor of our nation's lead and pay to their blessed memory the tribute of our united love. Heroism never had truer representatives than those who made this battlefield immortal. Here the soldier in blue and the soldier in gray read in each other's eyes courage born of convictions, devotion to principle, a willingness to do and die for what they believed was right. Here Union and Confederate soldiers by their daring sacrifice and heroism challenged the admiration of the world. Here northern valor drew up in battle line the bravest of her brave, the noblest specimens of her patriotic manhood and southern chivalry marshalled the noblest types of her splendid citizenship.

Mighty Lessons Taught.

"Here the brave union soldier checked the march of the hitherto irresistible confederate soldier. Here in the red glare of destructive battle fire two lessons were taught; one that the union should be preserved, and the other that the union should be ever mindful and considerate of the rights of the states. So the soldiers of the two armies who baptized this soil with their blood did not die in vain; they started the work of cementing the bonds of an everlasting union.

"I bring to you a message of good will and fellowship from the people of the south. As an evidence of our recognition and appreciation of the valor and heroism of both union and confederate soldiers, and as a token of the spirit of fraternal love now permeating the hearts of our people, I bring you floral offerings from the flower gardens of Dixie, one for the grave of the soldier in blue and the other for the grave of the soldier in gray. The sublime valor of the heroes of both armies is the priceless heritage of all."

Of the reunion in July of survivors of the two armies at Gettysburg, Mr. Heflin said: "What a glorious reunion that will be! The angels will smile upon that gathering and the God of our fathers will bless and approve it."

"Let the living join hands and hearts about a common center for the good of the republic," he concluded. "Let north, south, east, west, all work together for the good of all. Here on this battlefield, incarnatined with the blood of patriots north and patriots south, let us, in the language of Lincoln, resolve that this government shall not perish from the earth."

TRAMP TAKES BATH; ARRESTED.

Officers Find He Is Wearing Stolen Shirt and Has Stolen Watch.

Wabash, Ind., May 30.—For the first time in the history of Wabash a tramp has been arrested for bathing. While walking along the Wabash river on the outskirts of the city a patrolman observed a transient taking his morning plunge. His arrest followed. At the station it was found that he was wearing a shirt appropriated from a clothes line and that he had a stolen watch on his person. He is held for trial.

WHITTLED A GOLF BALL.

Kansas City Lad May Lose Eyesight from Explosion.

Kansas City, May 30.—As a result of whittling a golf ball until it exploded throwing its acid contents into his face, Jack Helfin, 13 years old, today lost the sight of his left eye and physicians say he will probably become totally blind.

WAS FACING TREASON CHARGE.

Austrian Army Officer Committed Suicide to Escape Disgrace.

Vienna, May 30.—Disclosure of the fact that Albert Redl, of the general staff of the Eighth army corps, committed suicide last Monday rather than face trial on a charge of high treason, is made in the Military Gazette. He was accused of selling to Russia important military secrets. It is the custom in the Austrian army to give officers who are accused of a disgraceful crime the opportunity of taking their own lives. In accordance with this four officers went to his home and discussed his case, leaving behind on his table a loaded revolver. They waited outside and a few minutes later heard the disgraced colonel had used the weapon as they intended.

TWO PURCHASE HOME SITES.

Fraternities of Indiana University Will Have Houses Next Fall.

Bloomington, Ind., May 30.—Two fraternities of Indiana university bought sites for homes today. The Phi Delta Theta society purchased the Harry A. Axtell stone residence, one mile east of the city, together with two and one-half acres of land, for $16,000, and will construct sixteen additional rooms for dormitory use. They expect to have the house ready for use at the opening of the fall term. Members of the Beta Fraternity bought a vacant lot on East Third street for $1,600, and will erect a modern chapter house, which they hope to have ready for occupancy by the opening of the fall term.

WORKMAN HAS LEG BROKEN.

Ferdinand Drage Suffers Accident at Oil Tank Works.

Ferdinand Drage, of 1001 West Creighton avenue, suffered a broken leg last night at 6 o'clock when a fly wheel fell upon him at the Wayne Oil Tank company, where he was employed. He was removed to Hope hospital, where Dr. H. O. Bruggeman set the fractured member. The limb was broken at the thigh. Mr. Drage is not suffering from the injury to any great extent, and will recover within a comparatively short time.

READY TO USE TROOPS.

New York Governor Proposes to Stop Race Track Gambling.

New York, May 30.—Reports that Governor William Sulzer had authorized employment of the state militia to stop gambling were current today, coincident with the revival of horse racing at Belmont park, on Long Island, this afternoon. Adjutant General Henry Dewbitt Hamilton, of the national guard, admitted he had had a midnight conference with the governor regarding the racing situation, and that while he did not believe any such measures would be necessary, he was in readiness to call out state troops to prevent violation of the law.

DIAMON RECANTS AMAZING STORY

Man at Missoula Now Declares Confession a Fairy Tale.

DENIES CONFESSION

Missoula, Mont., May 30.—"I swear before God I am an innocent man—innocent of all charges they have tried to make me accuse myself of," thus did Frank Diamon, yesterday, conclude late last night in jail a complete denial of a remarkable confession of a series of crimes which he was alleged to have made.

Among the murders which Diamon is supposed to have confessed having committed was that of former Territorial Governor Thomas Francis Meagher, of Montana. Diamon now says that all he knew of the death of Governor Meagher was what he read and that he never killed a man in his life.

Diamon's confession was made and signed in the presence of three citizens of Plains. He was ill from the effects of a spree and believed he was dying. He pledged his witnesses to silence until he had died, threatening death to any who divulged his secret. The confession, however, fell into the hands of a local newspaper, so the authorities were notified and Diamon was placed under arrest. When questioned about the confession, Diamon said he would make no statement until arraigned in court.

His Confession.

Of the murder of General Meagher, the confession reads:

"I killed him on a steamboat at Cowls Landing in the Missouri and threw him in the river. I swam ashore."

For that crime Diamon claimed to have received $8,000 from Montana vigilantes. Other murders assumed by him were two he claimed to have committed near the Dalles in 1874 and that of George Mitchell, killed in Oregon in 1883 and whose body was thrown into the river. For one of the murders Diamon said a notorious Montana desperado called "Big Nose George" was hanged.

Residents of Plains, who have known Diamon for twenty years say he has always been inoffensive except when under the influence of liquor. He is 67 years old. He was talking with friends in a saloon Tuesday when he was attacked with heart failure. After he had been taken to a room and put to bed he called for pen and ink. He was too weak to write and asked a friend to take down his statement. The three men who witnessed it say that Diamon was in full possession of his faculties.

General Meagher was one of the important figures of Motanna's early history. He served with distinction in the union army in the civil war having organized a brigade of Irishmen in New York and led them for two years. In 1865 he was appointed by General Grant on a mission to Montana. Later he became acting governor of the territory. He made a trip from Helena to Ft. Benton late in 1865 to secure provisions for a command of troops. While at Ft. Benton he visited his friend, Captain John R. Doran, of the steamboat George A. Thompson there. After retiring Meagher was heard to rise from his berth. A few moments later an outcry brought all on deck. A splash in the water indicated that General Meagher had fallen overboard. Although search of the Missouri was made for months, his body never was found. The Irish societies of Montana always have held to the theory that Meagher met with foul play.

Taking Their Places.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the cars began taking their places at the pits, and the mechanicians made their last examination before the race. On account of having to put in a new magneto and cylinders last night, De Palma was on the track soon after daylight limbering up the new parts. The $50,000 offered by the speedway is divided into ten prizes, the winner getting $20,000; second $10,000; third $5,000; fourth $3,500; fifth $3,000; sixth $2,200; seventh $1,800; eighth $1,600; ninth $1,500 and tenth $1,400.

The grand stands were slow in filling, but thousands without reserved seats filed through the gate and swarmed over the infield.

The weather was ideal, a clear sky and a warm sun.

During the night the brick track was cleaned thoroughly and was in excellent condition for the contest.

Starter Root ordered all of the cars on the track at 9 o'clock to test out the emergency brakes.

While going at high speed in the home stretch, the signal for the emergency brakes was given and each car had to stop in a short distance.

Other officials were busy at the pits checking up the drivers, mechanicians and pit helpers, as only a limited number were allowed in each pit.

Starter Root began lining the cars at 9:40 for the start. The cars were placed four abreast with 100 feet between the rows.

TARIFF FRAMERS REMAIN AT TASK

Congress in Adjournment But Committees Are Hard at Work.

PRESIDENT ON TRIP

Washington, May 30.—Both houses of congress were in adjournment today, but it is no holiday for the members of the senate finance sub-committees, hearing tariff and briefs.

Senators Stone, Johnson and Williams, chairmen of the three sub committees, and Senator Simmons, the committee chairman had hoped to have the schedules ready by Monday, but that has been found to be impossible. Work must be rushed if the bill is to be ready for the entire committee by June 9.

The regular cabinet meeting at the white house was called off because of the holiday and President Wilson arranged to take a motor trip into Virginia. Many of the cabinet officers had left town.

Secretary Bryan accepted an invitation to attend the Memorial exercises at Arlington National cemetery. He did not prepare a speech.

President Wilson was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson and his two cousins, Miss Helen Woodrow Bones and Fitzwilliam McMaster Woodrow.

Reformers Lay Plans.

Municipal reformers today laid plans to force upon the attention of congress a joint resolution offered by Senator Works, providing for the appointment of a "housing commission," which would take up the question of placing the indigent and improvident population of the District of Columbia in proper homes. Senator Works would go further, under the terms of his resolution, and would extend the powers of the commission to the residences of the better classes.

The proposed commission, which would mark a new departure in civic government, would be composed of three women and two men to be appointed by the president and to serve without pay.

THE DEATHS

BLOEMKER.

Mrs. Ethel Bloemker, aged twenty years, the wife of William L. Bloemker, the well known Lafayette street grocer, died at 8:30 o'clock this morning at the family residence, 2511 Gay street. Death was due to complications. The deceased was formerly Miss Ethel Krebs, and was well known in Fort Wayne, where she had resided for many years.

AT THE EMPRESS

The premier artistic production of the year, "La Sonambule," with Mons. G. Molasso and a specially selected company of Gallic artists including the beautiful Anna Kresser, are headliners at the Empress theater this week. For many years the productions of G. Molasso have been the artistic delight of the play-going public and most of his productions have appeared on the Sullivan & Cosidine circuit. "Paris by Night," "The Rose of Mexico," "The Dance of the Violins," "The Rose of Bagdad," and others of a like artistic worth have delighted the vaudeville audiences and they were always presented with the very best artists that could be procured. It has been the keen desire of Mr. Considine and one of the pet ambitions to have Mr. Molasso himself to make this tour of the circuit. He has at last prevailed upon Molasso to make this tour and the great pantomimist and an especially selected company are appearing in the masterpiece of his career, "La Sonambule." This is a thrilling little domestic drama that just falls short of tragedy and presents a picture of a certain phase of Parisian life that is intensely interesting. The pantomime is wonderfully acted and with the tried and experienced artistry of Molasso paints a picture for the eye and the mind that is not easily forgotten. It is a great triumph for the Sullivan & Considine circuit to have prevailed upon Molasso to make the tour as he is in constant and high priced demand in New York for the staging of huge theatrical productions. There is no question that this is the premier artistic event of the vaudeville season and that all through the west Mr. Molasso will repeat his triumphs of a few years ago when he appeared with a tremendous musical production and won a host of friends. Assisting Mr. Molasso in "La Sonambulo" is Anna Kremser, the most beautiful actress upon the stage.

AT THE LYRIC.

A three reel version of the famous stage production and opera by Bizet, "Carmen," is being exhibited at the Lyric today. Marguerite Snow appears as Carmen, William Garwood as Jose, William Russell as the Toreador and Peggy Reid as Mercedes. All of the usual scenes are given, including the gypsy camp, the bull fight, cigar factory, smugglers retreat, etc., and the costuming is carefully attended to. The Thanhouser people were almost a year making these three films, which will give an idea what it means to produce a first class film.

AT THE JEFFERSON

Don't miss the show at the Jefferson this afternoon or tonight. Two great pictures are on—"The King's Messenger" and "The Plaything." Doris Greenwald and Dick Hartzler. If you have a guess on Miss Greenwald be sure and come tonight for you must be in the theater to get your prize if you win. Amateurs tonight; this time a new one. This will mark his first appearance and you want to see it.

Saturday a big three-reel feature. "The Unlucky Horseshoe."

JUNE BRIDES OF EVERY CLIME IN THEIR CLOTHES OF WEDDING TIME.

(By Idah M'Glone Gibson.)

Birth, marriage and death are the thee great events of life. Compared with them, all others are insignificant. Of the three, marriage is perhaps the most important—certainly the only one that is voluntary. Birth is forced upon us, we are born to die, but we achieve marriage.

Three wishes hath each maid I know:
To handsome grow and have a beau.
And to the marriage altar go.

"Human hearts remain unchanged," and life methods differ but little the wide world over. We conduct our campaign strangely alike wherever, whoever, whatever we are—and from the North pole to the South woolngs and weddings are much the same.

The Indian of America proposes marriage by throwing the game he has killed at the feet of a maiden as a symbol that he can and will support her, very much as the high-born Pole throws the wild boar which he has speared at his sweetheart's feet. Betrothed Britons drink brandy and eat white bread together; the Japanese bride and groom drink sake; the Romans had their hymeneal meal, and the Germans their hymeneal ale.

The German peasantry never wed when the moon is full or diminishing. The nuptial luck will decrease if the marriage moon is past its full; if at its full the couple's luck will at best be stationary; while the increasing marriage moon brings increase of health, wealth and happiness.

No German bride wears pearls, not even a royal bride, as it is believed that for every pearl she wears her husband will cause her to shed a flood of tears.

The Russian bride must prostrate herself at her bridegroom's feet and pledge that she will submit herself and her will to him in all things.

Whatever else a Japanese bridegroom fails to do, he must not neglect to send his bride a girdle; it is the wedding ring of the Japanese. The girdle also figured prominently in the marriage ceremonies of the Romans.

The Malays pay for a marriage before they pay for it. They are easy-going people, but to eat a wedding cake or wear a wedding robe which is unpaid for would be an irretrievable disgrace. According to the Malayan code, all wedding expenses are paid by the bridegroom, and the sum which covers them is sent by him to his father-in-law-elect on the day previous to that on which he claims and receives his bride.

The old Jewish law most earnestly enjoins that in choosing a wife the characteristics of her family shall be carefully considered, for "a woman generally resembles her father and the man his maternal uncles." No Jewish marriage can take place when less than ten persons are present—at least ten Jews must be assembled when prayer is offered in any religious service.

No woman is more noticed and more courted before marriage than is the Spanish bride—and certainly few wives are more neglected after the brief span of the honeymoon. While the marriage kisses are yet moist upon her lips her husband lights his cigarette and strolls away.

The Turkish woman must, nominally at least, give her consent before she can be married, and no betrothal is binding until the bride-elect has tirice and formally assured a high priest of her willingness.

The superstitions connected with the marriage ring in the middle ages were various. In France, to secure protection against diabolical arts, a ring of cane or straw or one made from the nail of a horse shoe was placed on the finger of the financee.

Sometimes a ring was passed three times in water while the words, "in noman Patris," were repeated. Some grooms had as many as five rings blessed which they placed upon the fingers of their brides.

The idea that the wedding ring should be worn on the third finger of the left hand because "a nerve connects this finger with the heart" is of Roman origin. Oddly enough, it is continued on the Continent as in England, for in France, Belgium and Germany and most other European nations the "engagement ring" is the third finger of the left hand, while the "wedding ring" finger is the third of the right hand.

ATTRACTING BABY'S ATTENTION.

Dr. Clark Advises Mother of "Better Babies" to Interest Them in the Right Things and the Right Way to Act and Play.

"PICTURE BOOKS RELIEVE MOTHERS OF MUCH CARE."

By Dr. Margaret Vaupel Clark.

If you will look carefully over the official score card of the American Baby Health Contest association you will find that we count first, facial and ocular expression, intelligence, tractability, attention, imitation and disposition. These come before physical qualifications.

I have already spoken of the importance of giving your baby a good example to imitate and I want to impress upon every mother the importance of attracting the baby's "attention."

This is not done by dangling things up and down before its eyes until it gives a fretful glance at it, but by really arousing its interest.

A child can early be taught to show its tongue, to allow one to look in its throat, and to examine its eyes, its ears and all its body thoroughly. Every mother should make this a part of her every-day teaching, as often, when the baby is ill, it will not allow an examination which is important. But mothers, however, must never frighten nor hurt a child when trying to teach them this.

I AM GLAD THAT GOD MADE MOTHERS PATIENT.

When you ask your baby to open his mouth, to let you examine his eyes or ears, or rub his back, abdomen or limbs, you can make a little game of it until the habit is formed of obedience.

You should early get him interested in pictures and artistic things, for the love of art plays a great part in the joy of living, and if you can get your baby's attention attracted to a picture book you can be sure that it will relieve you of much care in hours when your household duties are impeative.

Be sure that you make your baby pay attention to the right things. Don't let older children jump around in front of him in a boisterous manner to attract his attention. Rather teach them to play pretty games and make graceful gestures. You will find baby soon imitating them. Remember what I have said of imitation.

If a baby is normally healthy it will not be fretful unless its attention is riveted upon things which will make it fretful and frazzle its nerves.

To me there is nothing as interesting in the whole wide world as to watch a young mother guiding her baby's intellect and attention in the right direction, and I regard nothing more important in the making of "better babies."

TESTED RECIPES

By CAROLINE COE.

Hamburg Loaf—Two and one-half pounds of hamburg steak.
One cup of milk.
One even tablespoon chopped onion.
One egg.
Salt, celery and pepper to taste.
One tablespoon chopped pepper.
One tablespoon chopped carrot.
One-half cup of fine bread crumbs.
Mix all together thoroughly, grease a bread pan, shape meat mixture into loaf and bake forty minutes in moderate oven or half an hour in hot oven. Very nice cold.

Ham and Veal—Steamed Loaf—Two pounds of lean veal.
One-half pound boiled ham.
Two eggs.
One cup of milk.
One-half a cup of fine bread or cracker crumbs.
Seasoning.

Put veal and ham through a fine meat grinder, add salt and pepper to taste. Add eggs to milk and beat thoroughly. Turn into meat. Mix well and add bread crumbs and mix into loaf. Put in deep pan and steam three hours. When ready to serve turn off the liquor, which should be about one cup. Thicken with one tablespoon of flour blended with a little water. Boil five minutes and strain, turn one tablespoon of this gravy over loaf and send the rest to table in a gravy boat

Graham Muffins.—Two cups of milk. One-half a cup of brown sugar. One-quarter teaspoon of salt. Stir this together and add enough graham flour to which you have added one teaspoon of baking powder to make a batter that will just drop from the spoon. Put this batter into a deep bowl or pan and beat ten minutes with dover beater. Drop into well greased muffin pans and bake in moderate oven twenty minutes. If oven is too hot at first, a hard crust will form on top and they will not rise. This recipe makes nine muffins.

BY CAROLINE COE.

A great many very fine cooks do not use pineapples as much as they might, simply because they imagine they are hard to prepare.

It is not hard to prepare a pineapple if you know how. Be sure that the fruit is perfectly ripe. Then take a small paring knife and twist it around one of the little cubes which form the apple. After this one is taken out take a fork and dislodge the others one at a time. The hard peel can easily be cut off each of these pieces.

This is the way pines are prepared in the south: Cut them down through the middle and cut out the hard pithy part that is in the center. Then shred them out with a fork. You can do this so there will only be two boat-shaped skins left. Never try to peel a pine whole. If you want it cut in round slices, slice it first and then put it on a table and cut round the slice just inside the skin. Now when pineapples are selling for ten cents a piece in the north they are an economical fruit for the family, and a little later they can be bought for fifty cents a dozen. Then is the time to can them. Cut them in slices and can.

Pineapple adds to the flavor of strawberry or cherry jam. Use it in proportion of one-third pineapple to two-thirds of the other fruit.

Pineapple Pies.

These are especially attractive if baked in small individual pie pans. Line the pans with a rich pie paste (remembering to put it on the inverted tin and have a perfectly shaped shell). Bake a delicate brown. Cut pineapple into small-sized pieces. Allow two-thirds of a cup of sugar to each cup of pineapple and let stand two hours. Drain all juice and beat one egg and one teaspoon of corn starch for each cup of apple. Stir it into a cup of the juice and boil, stirring all the time or it will burn. When cool mix the dried pineapple, fill pie shells, putting meringue on top and browning lightly in the oven.

Grated Pineapple.

Peel three large pineapples, grate them on a coarse grater. To each cup of the grated pineapple allow one-half cup of sugar. Mix thoroughly and put into pint cans and steam two hours. Cover while hot. This is nice for pies or puddings.

Pineapple Salad.

One slice of cold pineapple on lettuce leaf. Just before sending to table warm two teaspoons of French dressing, made with lemon juice in place of vinegar. Canned pineapple is better for salad than the fresh.

Pineapple Jam.

Pare the pineapple. Cut into small dice or pieces. Cook in just enough water to cover until easily pierced with a fork. Take out apple and allow three-fourths pound of sugar to one pound of fruit. Wet the sugar with the water in which the pineapple was boiled. Boil sugar into syrup, put in pineapple and boil five minutes. Cool a little before putting into jelly glasses. When cold cover with thin coating of paraffine.

Pineapple Parings.

When trimming a pineapple for jam or canning drop the peelings into warm water for about five minutes. Drain and put into sauce pan with cold water enough to cover. Simmer one-half hour. Strain through thin cloth and add one cup of sugar to two cups of water and boil until it is as thick as cream. Cool and bottle.

This is fine for pudding sauces, and added to any ice drink will improve its flavor.

Gelatine Pineapple.

Soak one box of gelatine in one cup of cold water. Shred one pineapple with a fork and add three-quarters of a cup of sugar to each cup. Let stand two hours. Turn off cup of juice. Heat, but do not boil. Turn in the gelatine. Stir until all is dissolved. Now put in one cup of pineapple slices and turn into wet mold. Serve with cream or pineapple juice.

Pineapple Tapioca.

Cook two heaping teaspoons of minute tapioca in one pint of water and add a pinch of salt and cook until clear. Add one cup of diced pineapple (dice or slice pineapple) and one cup of sugar. Heat, do not boil, until sugar is dissolved. Remove from fire and while warm fol din the stiffly beaten white of one egg. Pour into buttered molds. Serve ice cold with cream or top milk.

Pineapple Pie.

Line pie pan with rich paste. Cut the pineapple into thin small pieces and add pinch of salt and two-thirds cup of sugar to each cup of pineapple. Mix together. Then add one even tablespoon of corn starch. Put into pie shell, put bits of butter on top. Cover with top crust and bake twenty-five minutes in moderate oven.

Pineapple Sherbet.

Grate one pint of pineapple. Add one pint of water, one pint of sugar, juice of one orange. When nearly frozen turn in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs.

Pineapple Fritters.

Slice the pineapples in slices quarter of an inch thick. Cut into pieces, being very careful not to get any of the core. Drop these into fritter batter and drop into hat deep fat. Fry deep brown. Sift powdered sugar over and serve very hot.

CAROLINE COE.

A slice of pineapple, ice cold, with powdered sugar sprinkled over, makes a pleasant change from berries or other fruit for breakfast.

French Dressing.

Four tablespoons of olive oil. Saltspoon of salt. One tablespoon of lemon juice. Beat all together until it becomes creamy and thick.

Patterson Strikers Won Hours and Wages, But They Are Still Out, Because They're Taking Advice of I. W. W. Leaders from the Outside.

THE BREAD LINE AT PATERSON, N. J.

BY MARY BOYLE O'REILLY.

Paterson, N. J., May 30.—The twelfth week of the longest strike in the United States of a single industry finds Paterson, N. J., still under the red flag. Twenty-five thousand broad silk weavers have been "out" here for three months. And I have just finished an investigaton to find out "Why."

The main thing I have found out about the strike is that it has long since ceased to be a "legitimate" strike, as it seems to me, but is merely now a fomentation caused by certain agitators who want—not constructive reform—but destructive revolution.

The strike here at Paterson is emphatically a strike organized and conducted by the Industrial Workers of the World. The strikers demanded an eight-hour day, a 10 per cent increase in pay and the abolition of the three-and-four loom system. These demands were almost at once granted by four of the largest silk mills—the Price Manufacturing company, Stern & Pohli, Doherty & Wadsworth and the Empire Silk company.

The strikers thereupon voted to return to work. Immediately the strike leaders from the outside entered protest. They raised new and minor points of issue and the strike went on. But at that moment the question at Paterson ceased to be one of hours and wages and became a question as to whether Paterson labor should be led by itself or by agitators from without.

Paterson, like Lawrence and most other textile cities, is a community of foreign, low-wage earners. In this silk mill strike 75 per cent of the strikers are non-English speaking Italians. These workers, as a rule, have but one week's wage between them and penury and having won their demands are eager to be at work again.

The slender savings of the strikers long since have been swept away, their shoes are in shreds, their families are starving. And Paterson is on the verge of bankruptcy, its small storekeepers unable to give longer credit. A bread line has existed for weeks now.

The lack of a vital issue any more with which to hold out the strikers who are ready to return under a conciliatory schedule has, apparently, impelled the I. W. W. agitators to vitrolic prophecies of ruin and revolution.

"We are going to get what we want," declared Patrick Quinlan to strikers who have already won their every demand. "We are going to get what we want or we will wipe Paterson off the map!"

"We have our agents at work," promised Adolph Lessig, secretary of the I. W. W., "and by May 21 we will call out the electric and gaslight workers and plunge Paterson into the riot and rampage of a city in total darkness!"

"We are going to call a nation-wide strike," threatened William D. Haywood, national leader of the I. W. W., "cause general paralysis of industry and tie up the United States. No one can then do business, for there will be no business to do!"

Fulminations publicly made and reiterated have proved false prophecies.

duobusinerylswtolongerhoiimn 3 3 3 33

Paterson has not been "wiped off the map."

On May 21, the foredoomed night of terror, street lights burned brightly and trolleys ran on schedule; nor is the United States on the eve of industrial revolution!

Something is "breaking loose in Paterson," but it is the grip of the I. W. W. on strikers who, unassisted, have won their own demands!

Paterson seems to be proving that the workers are tired—not of fighting for just causes, but of fighting, fighting after the fight is won just because agitators of the "pro-revolution" type demand it.

HORACE P. HERRICK DEAD.

Former Fort Wayne Man Electrocuted at Keokuk, Ia.

Horace P. Herrick, aged 34, a former resident of Fort Wayne, met death Monday at Keokuk, Ia., when he touched a highly charged electrical wire. Herrick attended school in Fort Wayne and later graduated from Purdue university. He superintended electrical engineering work in all parts of the United States since leaving Fort Wayne, and spent some time in Japan and other foreign countries. At the time of his death he was engaged in superintending the work on the immense dam being constructed across the Mississippi at Keokuk.

Surviving besides the widow he leaves his mother, Mrs. W. F. Herrick, of Warsaw, Ind., two sisters and an aunt, Mrs. J. H. Harding, of Fort Wayne.

MADDEN HAS TOO LITTLE AT STAKE

Folks Can Take Care of Him and Mother Wants Him Home.

CAN QUIT ANY TIME

South Bend, Ind., May 30.—Leonard Madden, who was last year by long odds the best pitcher which the South Bend Central league boasted, has been sent to his home by the Terre Haute management to get into condition.

Just what is the matter with Madden is the question that has been puzzling local fans all this season.

Former President Burkhart, of the Southern Michigan league, who is now a resident of this city, appears to know the situation.

"Madden was at one time with the Saginaw team of the Southern Michigan," said Mr. Burkhart in speaking of the twirler, "and he pitched six or seven of the greatest games you ever saw. Then he blew up. Do you know what the trouble is with him? His folks have money. He knows he has a home waiting for him any time he wants it and he hasn't the ambition that he ought to have. His father is quite a well-to-do man. He is an ex-fire marshal of Toledo, Ohio. Furthermore, Madden's mother doesn't want him to play, and he knows that any time he takes a notion to quit it will tickle her to death. He doesn't get down and buckle to work, that's what's wrong with him."

After leaving the Southern Michigan league Madden was connected with the Aurora club of the Wisconsin-Illinois league. From there Brooklyn took him for a try-out on an optional agreement bargain. The Dodgers sent him to this city and he went like a house on fire all last year. At the end of last season Brooklyn claimed him but traded him later to the Cubs. Madden pitched a few games for the Cubs and though he would go good for a few innings had the very unfortunate habit of "blowing" before the nine innings were up. The Cubs sent him to Terre Haute this year.

Madden when he was with the locals last year had a quick curve and a nice drop. Furthermore, he had loads of steam. He was always a favorite with local patrons and they are still with him to the last ditch. Perhaps his dad, who it appears is an ardent fan, and wants to see his son make good in the national pastime, will instill the right sort of ginger into him and to such an extent that he will be back in the game at an early date and back to work.

CITY SERIES NEWS.

Manager Al Luley says the Magnolias will profit by the experience the club had in the last city series, and will go into the coming games determined to give the Shamrocks a battle. Jack Raidy will have League park in fine shape for the opening game which will be played next Sunday afternoon. All the local semi-pro players will watch the games with interest. The Shamrocks now hold the city title, and will put up a battle before the honors are taken from them.

Cashdollar, who will pitch for the Mags Sunday, says he will give the Shamrocks a better argument than he gave the Trolley leaguers last fall. He is confident of being able to hold the Shamrocks.

COBB EXPECTS A WONDERFUL YEAR

Hopes to Finish With a Batting Average of .500 Brand.

IS GOING AT A CLIP

Cleveland, O., May 30.—As great a player as Ty Cobb is, you wouldn't think that the Georgia peach would have any serious idea of batting more than .500 on the season's work. But that's Ty's aim and now he is very near the .500 mark. Ty has always been known as a late starter, so he figures that as he's swatting 'em so good now he'll continue at the same gait, if he doesn't hit up a faster pace, and will surpass the .492 record hung up by Tip O'Neil in the American association in 1887.

Yes, Cobb is really in earnest in his belief that he will bat .500 or better. That means a hit every other time he comes to bat, knocking off the bases on balls and sacrifices.

Griffith, too, was sincere in his opinion that Walter Johnson would get through the 1913 season without being defeated.

Cobb's desire for a .500 batting average is almost as ambitious as that Griffith once possessed for Johnson as a pitcher, but Ty may come through with it.

Whether Cobb does or not there's no denying that as great as he has been in the past the demon Tyrus is better now than ever. Never in his career has he batted at such a clip as he is now going. And never in his career has he shown such startling work on the bases and such brilliant work in the field.

Cobb has announced that he intends to lead the American league in stolen bases despite that he did not report to the Tigers until nineteen days after the season opened. That's a tough job even for Tyrus. Not only is he up against a marvelous base runner in Clyde Milan, of the Nationals, but also missed fourteen games played by Detroit before he joined. That's equivalent to spotting Milan fourteen games, and Cobb will have to smash all records to beat Clyde in the total of stolen bases. Moreover, Cobb is on a tail-end team and Milan is on a winner. The difference means a whole lot in base stealing, for once a team is three or four runs behind it is not baseball to try to steal. And the Tigers are going at be three or four runs behind a whole lot oftener than the Nationals.

And then Milan has it on Cobb thus far in percentage of stolen bases. Clyde already has averaged .862 stolen bases to the game, and Cobb .621.

But, after all, there is only one Tyrus, and he seems to be getting better year after year.

The Purdue Alumni association of Fort Wayne will hold its annual banquet at the Anthony hotel Monday evening, June 2. The committee in charge has issued notices to all the members.

THIS IS NOT A CURVED BAT AND AN OVAL BASE BALL.

BILL CARRIGAN.

Bill Carrigan is one of the star catchers of the American league and a member of the somewhat chastened world's champion Boston Red Sox team.

But Carrigan isn't the most interesting feature of this photograph. Look at the ball and then at the bat. The picture was taken as Carrigan was batting fungoes to the outfielders. The ball appears to be oval, yet it is so sharp that the seam can be seen. The bat appears curved, so swiftly was the husky backstop bringing it around as the photographer made the exposure.

Carrigan is one of the numerous players who have taken a post-graduate course in baseball after graduating from Holy Cross university, where making big leaguers is an annual affair.

AFTER BIGGER GAME NOW.

Jack Dillon Wants Matches With Best of the Middles.

Indianapolis, May 30.—Following his victory over Frank Klaus last night, Jack Dillon wants to meet the best man in the middle division and thinks he is entitled to the chance. He outpointed his man cleanly in the ten rounds and won a popular decision over the husky Pittsburg scrapper.

The bout was tame in the first five rounds but after that Dillon went after his man and in the eighth, ninth and tenth tried for a knockout but failed to land.

BROKE INTO THE GAME AS BROTHER

Hans Wagner Opened at Mansfield as a Third Baseman.

HE HIT A HOME RUN

Pittsburg, May 30.—"I broke into baseball posing as my brother Al," says Hans Wagner in the New York Evening Telegram. "We were playing ball around Mansfield, Pa. They call it Carnegie, now. That's where I was born back in 1874. My brother received an offer from Canton, O., before he was offered a place with the Mansfield, O., club, both in the same league.

"The day he got the second offer he turned to me and told me to go to Mansfield. I got there early in the afternoon and a man named Taylor, who owned the team, recognized me. He had seen me play. The club was hard put for a third baseman, however, and Taylor decided to take a chance with me.

"It so happened that Mansfield played Canton that day. My brother was in the line-up of the Canton team, and the pitcher, 'Toots' Barrett, a left-hander, was also from Mansfield. They regarded me as pretty much of a 'kid' and when Canton got away to a good lead early in the game Barrett let up in his pitching when I went to bat. He wanted to see me make good and figured that a couple of hits more or less would not affect his rating any.

"I made a couple of hits in this way and then came the ninth inning. Never will I forget it. Mansfield was three runs to the bad when we went to bat. They needed four to win. We filled the bases and it was my turn to bat.

"Taylor was not 'wise' to the fact that Barrett had been easing up when I had been at bat before and made a couple of hits, or he might have sent in a pinch hitter. I made a couple of bingles so he let me stick.

"With the bases full Barrett meant to strike me out. It was too ticklish a time for 'monkey' business. He moved across a fast one and I knocked it over the fence for a home run and won the game.

"It was just a case of the luck of things. That's it all the time. If the pitcher's lucky, he gets you. If you're lucky, you get him. You know some fellows are born lucky. Others are born unlucky. So far as my batting is concerned, I guess I was born lucky, that's all."

Balloon Ascension and Parachute Drop at Robison Park on May 30

Aeronaut William Crowl, who made the fine ascension at Robison park last Sunday, will go up again on Decoration day at 5:30 p. m. The Sunday ascension was the finest one the park ever had and pleased the thousands of park visitors. The aeronaut was lost to view in the clouds at one time! When he cut loose in his parachute he was at so high an altitude that the heavier weight of the balloon carried it to the earth before he landed himself.

BADE MYERS NOT IN ANY TROUBLE

Denial Entered by all Interested in the Canton Club.

WANT TO HURT GAME

Canton, O., May 30.—Wormwood has taken hold on certain Cantonians, foes of the local Interstate club who have as their purpose the destruction of professional baseball here.

So declared financial backers of the organization and Manager Bade Myers after having been made the principals in an alleged controversy over the management of the players.

"'Tis my wish that the baseball public of Canton know that my relations with the business management of the club have not become strained. The person who undertook to wreck the club adopted shrewd methods," said Myers.

"To interrogators I have said that the owners and myself are on friendly terms and that I have been instructed to get a winning combination," continued the local leader. "Whatever has been said to the contrary is false."

President Yost gave out the following statement which was approved by fellow officials:

"I did not know that the backers and Manager Myers were at outs until the news came through the public print. Funny, isn't it?

"I've been misquoted, and some of my statements have been twisted and turned until they weary my eyes when thrown into type.

"Myers and the directorate have an understanding. We want winners the same as the public and the players want it. Those who try to [illegible] tain out of a molehill use hands that might serve better purposes."

NOT COLD SHOULDER.

"I understand dat young married lady handed it out hot an' heavy to yer."

"Yep, dat's right. She gimme a loaf of bread she'd jest baked."

Sing Ho, after forty years in Spokane, Washington, is returning to China with $1,000,000 amassed in railroad contracting.

THE IMPORTANT BLOUSE

Becomes doubly important as the coatless days come forward and women appear in smart little waists and separate Skirts.

Many new Waists have just come in, of the type that fastidious women like for dressy wear as well as charming little blouses of washable cottons; very new and pretty.

WAISTS MADE ENTIRELY OF SHADOW LACE

The latest acquisition to the realm of Waists, and accorded a cordial reception because their beauty is not a whit marred by a visit to the tub. One attractive model combines net with cream shadow lace, in the flat collar and vest. Colored crystal buttons are also used as trimming and an added touch of piquancy is given by delicately colored ribbon, veiled by shadow lace. Another blouse is entirely of the shadow lace in a new model in the quaint bodice effect. These lovely new things are priced at $5.95, $6.95 and $7.50.

MEETING WAS ONE OF THE BEST

International Master Boilermakers Had Big Gathering at Chicago.

ENGINEERS MEMORIAL SERVICES JUNE 8

Services Will Be at Wayne Street Church and Rev. Travis the Speaker.

General Foreman B. F. Sarver, of the boiler department of the Pennsylvania, has returned from Chicago, where he attended the annual meeting of the International Association of Master Boilermakers. The meeting was one of the best attended by Mr. Sarver, who attended all held during the past ten years. The association elected the following officers: T. W. Lowe, of Winnipeg, Man., president; Andrew Greene, Indianapolis, and C. P. Patrick, Altoona, Pa., vice presidents; H. D. Vought, Erie, Pa., secretary, and Frank Gray, Cleveland, treasurer. Mrs. Sarver, who is a member of the auxiliary entertainment committee, was with her husband and took part with other auxiliary ladies in the entertainment feature of the gathering.

WATER WAGON CLUB.

B. & O. Employes Get Up Abstinence Movement.

The fight of the Baltimore and Ohio officials against "booze" habits among the employes is responsible for the formation of the Water Wagon club, which is conducted somewhat after the plan of the Murphy Total Abstinance movement of forty years ago. The members of the Water Wagon club sign a card which reads as follows:

"Realizing that intoxicating liquors has been the means of side tracking many a good railroad man and that abstinence would raise the standard of railroad service, I hereby pledge myself to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors and promise to boost the Water Wagon club among my fellow employes."

Each signer of the card is presented with a button bearing the name of the club and it is estimated that over one-half of the trainmen on the Chicago division of the Baltimore and Ohio are wearing these buttons. The B. & O., which suffered greatly from wrecks on account of employes being under the influence of liquor when they happened, is enforcing the abstinence rule among its enginemen and trainmen and none is allowed to take a run out of Garrett or other division with even a suspicion of the smell of liquor on his breath. A man is on the ground to do the smelling and none get past him. In this fight the B. & O. is not alone. Other roads are conducting similar campaigns and some go farther and insist that their employes shall not visit saloons when not on duty, as well as when on duty.

RESCUED PRAIRIE DOG.

Baggagemaster Henry Hille Finds One in a Shoe Box.

From a pile of rubbish at the north side of the Nickel Plate depot, awaiting favorable weather to burn it, Henry Hille extracted a shoe box which presented a peculiar appearance. It was perforated with holes about the size of a lead pencil and emitted a peculiar odor. When opened there laid a prairie dog about two-thirds grown, unconscious but breathing. Mr. Hille gave the animal to Janitor Bob Patterson, who took it home, gave it water and food and revived it so that it ran around the room quite lively. The little animal did not enjoy captivity, however, and the following morning Mr Patterson found it lying dead in the box he had prepared for it. The presence of the prairie dog in the pile of rubbish is a mystery. Nobody could be found who knew anything about the matter.

TWO IMMIGRANT TRAINS.

Over 1,200 Foreigners Pass Through the City.

The largest party of immigrants to pass through the city in one day for many months was carried on two trains over the Nickel Plate last night. One passed through the city at 5:30 o'clock and the other at 9 and they ran as the second and third sections of train No. 3. The first immigrant train carried 480 people and the second 780. The foreigners are bound for the farming districts of the northwest.

ENGINEERS' MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Will Pay Tribute to Memory of Departed Brothers.

Division No. 12, B. L. E., and Division No. 18, Grand International Auxiliary to the B. L. E., will have the annual memorial services jointly on Sunday, June 8, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The sermon will be delivered at the Wayne Street Methodist church by Rev. C. Claud Travis.

DECORATION TRAVEL HEAVY.

All the railroads and the interurban lines running out of Fort Wayne did a big business last night and this morning, notwithstanding the fact there was no special rates, except a slight reduction in the roundtrip fare to Indianapolis on account of the races there today. No figures upon the Indianapolis business out of Fort Wayne could be obtained at the hour this is written, but every steam and trolley car loaded that way last night and this morning was loaded to the limit and the total probably passes the 500 mark. Travel to the lakes and other points was also very heavy last night and this morning. Had special rates been in force, the trains would not have been able to handle the business, so great would have been the movement.

WILL CLOSE UNTIL MONDAY.

Some of the big industrial plants of the city, which are closed today on account of the holiday, will not resume operations until Monday morning. Among this class is the Rolling Mills, many of the employes of which have left the city for a two or three days' stay. The Rolling Mills are fairly busy and up to the present have been operated to the full capacity of the working force.

PART OF NEW MILLS RUNNING.

The Thieme Brothers have five new knitting machines in operation in the addition to the plant and will add more as soon as they can be secured and set up. The new machines were built in Germany and were erected by Franz Oestreich, of Chemnitz, Germany.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Traveling Freight Agent J. E. Wilson, of the Lake Shore, is in the city on business connected with his office.

Russell Hebblethwaite, traveling passenger agent for the Queen City and Crescent route, was a caller at the local ticket offices yesterday.

C. C. Sprague, traveling passenger agent for the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation company, was in the city yesterday on business for his company.

R. H. Harper, chief electrician of the Wayne Knitting mills, was called to Detroit yesterday by a message stating that his aged mother was seriously ill.

A class of students from the Tri-State college at Angola was in the city yesterday morning and visited the plants of the General Electric works and the Fort Wayne Electric works.

A reunion of four brothers, who had not met for several years, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sellars. They were Joel Smith, of Leonard, Kas.; Dan Smith, of Payne, O.; H. Smith, of Wells, Tex., and Tom Smith, of this city. All have now returned to their homes.

NO ANSWER FROM WOLF.

Political Guns Will Open Fire Early Next Week.

Paul E. Wolf, who has been petitioned to accept the republican candidacy for mayor, in the forthcoming municipal campaign, is still withholding his answer, and those who have held previous conferences with him declare they are afraid he will not accept the honor thrust upon him. Mr. Wolf's answer is due either tomorrow or the first of next week, and until that time little political activity is expected on the part of the republican leaders.

The democrats are making preparations to fire off their first political guns next week, when Chairman Guy Colerick calls a meeting of the city central committee.

oScialists of branch No. 6 will hold another session Tuesday night in the hall above the Star theater. It is said that matters of vital interest to the welfare of the party in Fort Wayne will come up for discussion.

SCHOOL WILL BE CROWDED.

High School Pupils to Number More Than 1,000 Next Fall.

When the high school opens next fall the greatest number of students ever enrolled there will be in attendance, and it is given out by officials of the school that the building will be overcrowded. Nine hundred and fifty students were enrolled there during the year just about to close, and almost every nook and corner of the school was utilized. Several of the recitation rooms were necessarily used as session rooms, this fact causing much inconvenience.

The graduating class this year numbers 120, and it is estimated that in the neighborhood of 230 pupils will enter high school from the graded and county schools. This will make an increase in enrollment of sixty, and bring the total number slightly over 1,000.

INDICTED FOR MURDER.

Ehrmann Held at Terre Haute; Eckert Is Released.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 30.—Emil E. Ehrmann, who Tuesday shot and killed Edward Wade when the latter went to the rescue of a girl striker Ehrmann is said to have attacked, was indicted by the grand jury upon a charge of first degree murder. The indictment was served tonight.

Frederick R. Eckert, who was held by the police in connection with the killing, was released. No charges were filed against him.

ACKNOWLEDGED DONATIONS.

Hamilton, Ohio, Flood Sufferers Thank Fort Wayne Workers.

Officials of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company and others in Fort Wayne who added to the flood relief fund for the sufferers at Hamilton, Ohio, have received cards of thanks for their offerings to the endless chain system which it is said has brought more than $2,000,000 into the coffers of the citizens' relief committee.

PRETTY GIRL AS CONSTABLE.

Arrests Giant at Newcastle When Regular Officer Shows White Feather.

Newcastle, Ind., May 30.—Miss Anna Payne, 18 years old, and pretty, a stenographer in th office of H. H. Evans, prosecuting attorne for Henry county, has been appointed a constable. This action was occasioned because one of the constables showed the white feather when given a warrant to serve on Sidney Showe, a young giant, 6 feet 2 tall and weighing about 200 pounds, for assault and battery.

After having the warrant for half a day he returned, saying that Showe could not be found. It was then that Miss Payne was deputized, and with the warrant she walked right up to the man and smilingly told him that he was under arrest. He said not a word but went along quietly.

BODIES LAY ELEVEN HOURS.

Irving Grant Kills Wife and Himself at South Bend.

South Bend., Ind., May 30.—Irving Grant shot his wife and then turned the revolver on himself at their home here yesterday morning. The bodies lay in the house for eleven hours before being discovered by Edward App, who came to call on the couple's daughter, who was away at work during the day.

Grant was a consumptive, and had often threatened to end his life. A quarrel Wednesday night, brought on by the wife's announcement she was going to leave the city, is thought to have caused the tragedy.

Machinist Makes Fortune on 5-Acre Fruit Farm and Keeps City Job, Too.

LEWIS J. IHM AT HIS LATHE IN THE SHOP, AND A VIEW OF HIS 5-ACRE FRUIT AND BERRY FARM.

Omaha, May 29.—That a few acres near a large city may be made a profitable recreation without interfering with the regular occupation of the city worker is shown to be both possible and feasible by the experience of Lewis J. Ihm, a machinist in the railroad shops.

Ten years ago Ihm noticed that the Union Pacific was gradually weeding out the old men and replacing them with younger workmen. He saw old men bent and worn by heavy work thrown out of their jobs and without other means of support than their slender savings. Ihm took warning and bought five acres several miles from Omaha.

He built a small cottage and barn and hired a man to plow the ground; had it heavily manured and set out a cherry orchard. To this he added berry bushes, a garden, cow and chickens.

His hours at the shop were short, and many weeks he worked only three days out of the seven. All the spare time he could find he put in on his farm. Gradually and after some failures he succeeded in finding the stock of trees that were the best bearers, and by an original and effective system of cross-cultivating with tools of his own invention Ihm has built up one of the best-paying fruit farms in the state.

He has 427 cherry trees, 355 grape vines, 1,085 gooseberry bushes, 1,959 currant bushes, 1,310 black raspberry bushes, 400 red raspberry bushes, 33 bearing apple trees and a garden in which he raises strawberries, potatoes, peas, beans, cabbages, tomatoes, cucumbers, lettuce, radishes and onions.

Ten years ago Ihm could not have told the difference between a "fruit bud" and a "leaf bud." Today he is president of one of the largest fruit growers' associations in the west.

"I can't understand why men will strive and struggle and worry through life in the city when they might just as well have a few acres and a good living out of doors if they would only make the effort," said Ihm. "The back-to-the-soil movement sounds good to me, and I am sure that if city folks can be made to understand that intensified farming can be made a paying proposition many will be willing to buy acre tracts near the cities where they are employed.

"My farm, which cost me $1,200, is today worth $12,000. My currants alone in 1904 cleared above all expenses $275, and my strawberries $200. This was an off year, and several times since I have cleared $1,500 a year on my fruit and berries. Next year, with the facilities I have for packing and disposing of my fruit, I expect to make $2,500."

Iron and steel exports of the United States in February were more than three times as great as in the same month ten years ago.

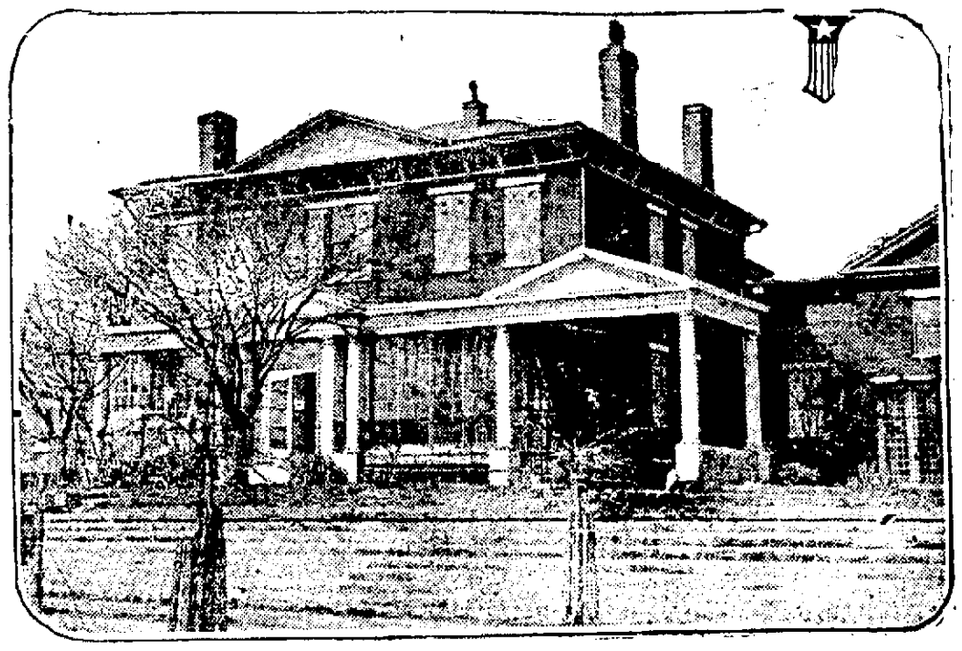
Bryan is a Mighty Big Man in Washington, But He Refuses to Be Greater Than the Chief in the White House.



WHERE SECRETARY OF STATE BRYAN LIVES IN WASHINGTON. "CALUMET MANSION," THE FORMER HOME OF JOHN A. LOGAN.

By O. P. Newman.

Washington, May 30.—Don't be worried, you folks back home, about William Jennings Bryan!

William's getting along all right.

You see, there were a lot of fellows in the country who wanted to see Bryan and Wilson in a large, juicy row right away, if not sooner.

But Bryan was wise to 'em.

He has just simply seen to it that there was no row and it looks now as if there "ain't" going to be "no" row.

When asked by newspaper men about a particular phase of the new, universal peace plan, President Wilson said:

"You had better see Mr. Bryan about that. He is handling the peace proposal."

When Bryan was asked, he said:

"Speaking as the representative of President Wilson I can say that the peace plan, etc., etc."

Those two instances demonstrate clearly the consideration which each official is showing the other. As a matter of fact, the peace plan was worked out by both of them, sitting side by side at the president's desk, yet Wilson insisted on having Bryan announce it and speak for the administration in discussing it, and Bryan, from the day he announced it to today, has invariably given Wilson credit as the father of the scheme.

Bryan has tried hard ever since March 4 to stay in the back-ground but he cannot wholly succeed. There are too many people who think he's about the grandest little statesman that ever performed in Washington, and the fact that he accepted a place in the cabinet, after having been three times the candidate of his party for president has not dimmed his glory.

Dressed in his wrinkled, black frock coat suit, fearing the same old black slouch hat and the same style of low, turn-down collar and black string tie that he's worn for years, Bryan emerges from the president's offices after a cabinet meeting and starts across the street to the state department. But he doesn't get there right away. In the white house yard, on the steps, on the sidewalk, in the street and clustered about the entrance to the state department he is waylaid by people—plain men, women and children, mostly tourists visiting the capital—who won't let him pass without a handshake.

Bryan arrives at his office to find the big waiting room filled with people anxious to see him—just to see him, that's all. They are, for the greater part, men, women and children who have become acquainted with him during his travels of the past 17 years and who are passing through Washington. There are also politicians of high and low degree from every corner of the country, senators, congressmen and many total strangers. From 9:30 in the morning until 6 at night Bryan's office is full every minute.

Mrs. Bryan has been here all the time since March 4, but the Bryans have done very little socially. They have rented the old "Calumet Mansion," former home of Gen. John A. Logan, on the high hill at Thirteenth and Bancroft streets overlooking the whole city. They have given their official dinner to the diplomatic representatives of foreign countires and are now being dined by each in turn. Mrs. Bryan is "at home" every Wednesday afternoon, when hundreds of people call on her, but that is all of their social life to date.

Like most of the other people in the Wilson administration, Bryan is so busy in the daytime with his official duties that he hasn't time or inclinations to gad about to parties or to give parties at night.

W. F. Graeter, of the Indiana Furniture company, is confined to his home by illness.

TWO TOWNS ARE NOW ONE.

Winston and Salem, N. C., Decide to Sail Under Single Flag.

Winston-Salem, N. C., May 30.—Wiping two towns off the map is an event of historic interest. This is done in the formal extinguishing of Winston and Salem as governmental units. Henceforth the community embraced in these two towns will appear upon the map of the world as the city of Winston-Salem. The mayor and board of aldermen of the city of Winston-Salem succeed to all the authority and duties heretofore exercised by the board of aldermen of Winston and board of commissioners of Salem. In the consolidation of the two towns, which was recently determined upon by popular vote, a new city is created with a population which has grown fro m15,000 in 1900 to 40,000 in 1913, including the suburban settlements immediately contiguous to the city and essential parts of its commercial and industrial activities.

STRETCHER SHOCKED WOMAN.

She Was Curious to Know Whom It Bore and Finds Father.

Northumberland, Pa., May 30.—Stepping out of a store next to an undertaker's shop here, Irene Heberling saw four men carrying a body on a stretcher. She cried, "Who is it?" The winding sheet was pulled back and she looked upon the face of her father, James Heberling, killed by a street car. Then she became hysterical. Only a few hours before she had sat at the breakfast table with him and had bid a happy goodby. Heberling was out looking at some property and started to walk across the tracks of the Sunbury and Susquehanna railroad while a car was coming east and another was going west. Becoming confused, he stepped out of the way of one in front of the other.

LADIES!

THINK OF IT

A Beautiful Complexion IN 5 MINUTES

If you are fortunate enough to have this adv. catch your eye, you'll be one of the happiest women in the world—for I will absolutely guarantee to give a beautiful complexion in 5 minutes WITHOUT COST TO YOU. In all the history of the world's toilette there has NEVER at any time, been such an offer as this—and the best of all is this—YOU CAN TRY AND BE CONVINCED BEFORE you spend a single penny. Thousands of the finest Parisian society women are using this enamoline.

Here's the story: I spent the last two years in Europe, and during my travels I discovered an old Parisian physician making Face Enamoline. I tried his preparation and was completely amazed at the results—I was delighted—I was thunderstruck—I could hardly believe my own eyes. From him I purchased the formula and I completely control it throughout America.

Two months ago I gave out a few samples to women friends of mine, and since that time I have been literally swamped with requests for this Parisian Face Enamoline. Women have besieged me at my home—implored me to give them more of my preparation. Now a company has been formed to market this amazing Face Enamoline, and I will make 50,000 women happy this month. You can be among them if you desire.

My Parisian Face Enamoline covers birthmarks, moles, freckles, blotches, blackheads, large pores, liver spots. Absolutely no massaging necessary. Five minutes is all that's needed to give you a perfect satiny complexion. It can't rub off. Makes you beautiful immediately. Keeps your skin exquisite creation. Put on fresh every day. Ladies carry it in their purses. It eradicates wrinkles—prevents chapping. Really it's the most amazing preparation in the whole world.

And now, in order to introduce it to American women I announce that upon receipt of five 2 cent stamps, to help pay packing, postage, time spent in wrapping, etc., I will send every lady a generous sample to carry in her purse. I know so well, that after you have tried this Parisian Enamoline, you will be wildly delighted. I tell you positively there's nothing like it in the whole world.

After you have received your package, let your lady friends try it. They will be amazed. I will mail a package to every lady that sends in five 2-cent stamps, or 10 cents in all.

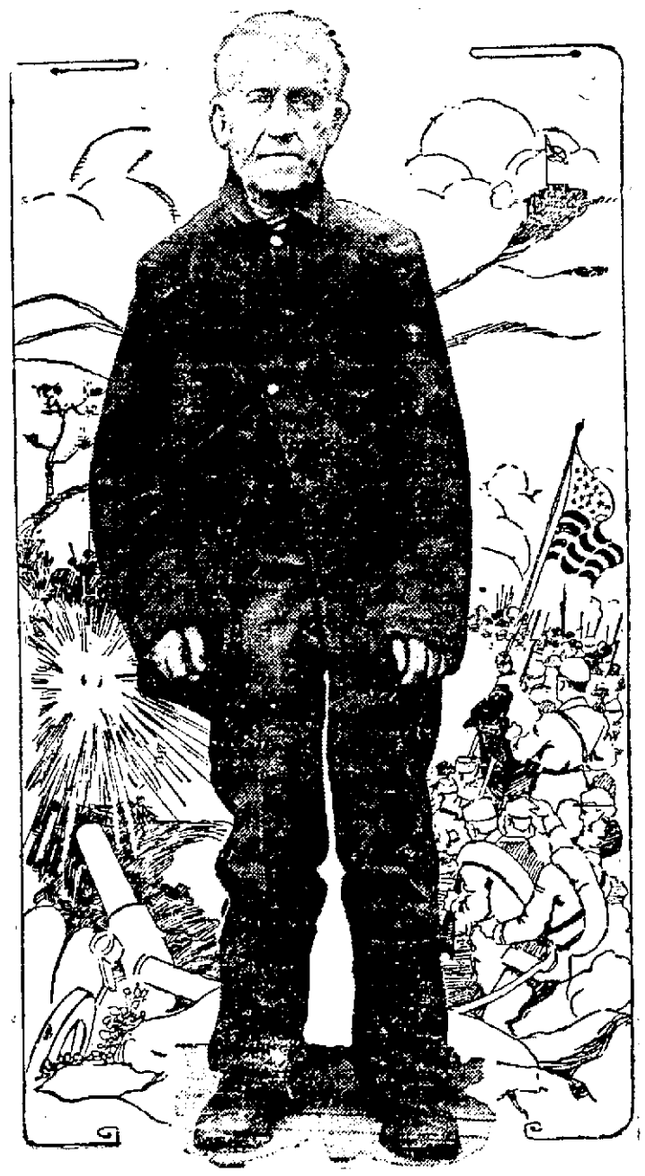
Most Remarkable War Veteran is This Little Old Woman in Illinois

As "Albert D. J. Cashier" She Fought Through the Three Hardest Years of the Civil War—Her Sex Has Just Been Revealed.



"ALBERT D. J. CASHIER," AS SHE LOOKS TODAY.

(By W. H. Alburn.)

Quincy, Ill., May 30.—Of all the war tales that veterans will tell on this Memorial day in a thousand cities, towns, and villages, there is not one so strange and so full of heroism as the tale of the veteran I have just visited here in the Illinois Soldiers' home.

Albert D. J. Cashier, who fought through the three hardest years of the civil war, who draws a pension from the United States and is a member of the G. A. R., is a woman!

Her life is full of mystery. Her sex has just been revealed after a lifetime of masquerading, and she is ending her days unaware that her secret is known.

I had expected to meet an Amazon. A woman who had fought in the death grapple of a nation and had lived and toiled as a man through half a century should be big, strong and masculine.

And when I entered her hospital ward there rose and came to meet me, in her faded soldier's uniform, just a little, frail, sweet faced old lady who might be anybody's grandmother. She was so little and so gentle! She could walk under the leveled arm of almost any soldier in the home. Most of them were giants beside her. If she was ever five feet two, age and toil shriveled her figure and bent her shoulders till she belies her record.

Her hand clasp was timid and her hand was delicate and small. Her brown hair had whitened. Her eyes were a faded blue. And her face was a face for a painter to dwell on.

Half a century of sun and wind had bronzed that face, sowed it with freckles and seamed it with a thousand wrinkles. The razor that helped her disguise had coaxed forth a film of beard. But there was no touch of coarseness. It was a sweet, kindly, pathetic face, compelling affection and respect.

And this frail, little woman had lived, fared and done a man's work in the world. Her tiny feet had tramped in line of march nearly 10,000 miles. Her delicate shoulders had been burdened with half her weight of equipment. Her little hands had dug trenches, laid rails, and wielded guns. She had shared the soldier's lot in camp, on sentry duty, in bivouac and line of battle.

She had built and guarded a railroad in the advance on Memphis. She had been through the battle of Guntown when her company was nearly annihilated. She had helped pursue Hood's defeated army to the Tennessee. She had toiled in the swamps against General Johnston's confederates and triumphed with Grant amid the thunders of Vicksburg. She had taken part in the siege of Natchez, the battles of Kenesaw mountain, Chattahoochie river, Jonesboro and Lovejoy station. She had been in the battering campaigns against Price in Arkansas and Mississippi and Hood in Alabama, and with Sherman in his Atlanta campaign, where one soldier out of three was killed, and had followed him in his devastating march to the sea.

Her life is a mystery. She was born in Ireland on Christmas day, 1844. She is said to have come to America in boys' clothes as a stowaway. Soon afterward she entered the army. Perhaps there was a shattered romance—nobody knows, and her lips are sealed.

Even her name is unknown. She has called herself "Albert Cashier," but all attempts to trace her identity have failed.

She enlisted August 6, 1862, at Belvidere, Ill., in Company G of the Ninety-fifth infantry, and was discharged August 17, 1865. She did farm work for two or three years at Belvidere, then disappeared. The next forty years are her own secret. She is thought to have worked in a factory somewhere, probably in Chicago. Finally she became an automobile chauffeur and worked in that capacity for former State Senator I. M. Lish at Saunemin, Ill. Lish discovered her secret and got her admitted to the Soldiers' home at Quincy two years ago.

Superintendent Anderson knows the truth, but said nothing. Now her growing feebleness of body and mind have made it advisable to send her to the state hospital, where she will have better care, and so the strange story is revealed.

She does not know, however, that the world has learned her secret. And her comrades in the home, who have treated her always with touching kindness and respect, still call her "Albert"—and give no hint that they understand.

"We never suspected that Albert was not a man," says Robert Horan of Belvidere, one of her old comrades. "But we did think sometimes that she acted more like a woman than a man. For one thing, she always insisted on bunking by herself. And she did lots of washing for the boys—she used to wash our shirts.

"When the strangeness wore away she made a good comrade. She was a soldier with us, doing faithfully and well."

The Other Woman Soldier."

Kady Brownell is the only woman besides "Albert Cashier," known to have served in the civil war.

When her husband, Robert Brownell, of Central Falls, R. I., enlisted during their honeymoon, she insisted on going along. The governor of the state escorted her to Washington and got permission for her to enter the army. She wore women's clothes and never handled a gun. She carried a light saber and a revolver and became an expert shot. She was wounded at Bull Run. On long marches she showed more endurance than the men. After the war she was granted a pension by special act of congress.

WEDDED 3; DENIES BIGAMY.

Man Says as First Wife Was Living It Made Marriage Legal.

Savannah, Ga., May 29.—Ira L. Davis, 30 years old, before Judge Roan in the criminal court on a charge of bigamy, admitted having been married three times, but presented the unique defense that when he married the second time his first wife was living, which made the second marriage void, and that when he married the third time his first wife had died, which would make his last marriage legal.

VERY REMARKABLE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

Mr. Albert Walker, of Procious, W. Va., suffered intense pain in the stomach and right side at intervals for fifteen years. He had consulted eight or ten physicians and while they all agreed that he had liver trouble, they failed to relieve him. He was eventually cured by Chamberlain's Tablets. If you have any trouble with your stomach or liver, these tablets will certainly do you good. For sale by all dealers.

Master Your Kitchen

Don't be a slave to kitchen drudgery---spending needless hours in walking from one part to the other.

The Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet puts a compact system in your kitchen—makes it as scientific as a highly systematized business. It brings your work to your fingers' ends and saves an hour or two each day.

LICENSED AGENTS FOR HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

You cannot get the patented Hoosier Special labor saving features anywhere else at any price. Without these many conveniences for saving time and work, a cabinet would be a mere collection of bins and drawers—not a labor saving machine. The 400,000 women who use the genuine Hoosier value it for the countless steps it saves.

There are so many special features to the Hoosier that we must ask you to see it yourself. A demonstration at any time.

CAPTOR OF DAVIS WAS DESPONDENT

Sole Survivor of Detachment Feared to Become Ward of Government.

TRIES TO DIE BY GAS

Philadelphia, Pa., May 30.—Fearful of becoming a ward of the government, Casper Knobel, last survivor of the detachment of fourteen men who captured Jefferson Davis, was found unconscious in his room from illuminating gas that he had turned on with suicidal intent.

Clasped in his hand was a gold medal awarded by congress for his bravery in capturing the president of the confederacy, while on the walls were portraits of Generals Grant, Sherman and Sheridan and Abraham Lincoln. Entwined around the picture of General Sheridan was a tattered American flag.

Since the war Mr. Knobel worked at his trade as a mechanic until, a year ago, he became so feeble that he was no longer useful and he was discharged. Since then he managed to exist on a small pension and his meagre savings.

Fearing that the soldiers' home would be his final haven, the veteran turned on the gas and lay down to die. Detecting the odor of gas, his landlord forced the door open just as Mr. Knobel was about to breathe his last. Physicians at the Mount Sinai hospital say he cannot recover.

One of the grievances of Mr. Knobel was his charge that he never got his full share of the $100,000 reward offered by the government for the capture of Davis, saying he received only $293 and the medal.

TARIFF TIPS FOR WOMEN.

"Ladies' Number" of Treasury Paper Deals With Duties.

Washington, May 30.—Secretary McAdoo has issued a "ladies' number" of the treasury department's official weekly paper. While usually dry and technical, treating of such subjects as duties on steel, iron and lumber, this week's issue possesses a distinctly feminine touch, and is of importance to every woman in the land and to the pocketbooks of most of the men. It deals with drawback on chewing gum, drawback on corsets, drawback on shoes, duties on ladies' collars and cuffs, trimmed hats, whalebones, needle cases, slipper ornaments, cigarettes, beaded necklaces and bags, dress buttons, mesh bags and a score of other articles of feminine wear.

A London firm had sixty display windows in its store and recently all of the windows were filled with a display of women's hats. Nearly seven thousand hats were shown and it is believed that every woman in London could find one to suit her.

SCOTS GET 80,000 ACRES FOR FARMS

Immigrants to Learn Modern Views in Land's Cultivation.

GET 80 ACRES APIECE

Milwaukee, Wis., May 30.—Eighty thousand acres of choice land in Wisconsin, near Gilman, has been acquired by a syndicate for the purpose of colonizing young Scotch immigrants. Each immigrant is to get 80 acres.

The sum of $5,000,000 will be devoted to the colony, back of which are Porter L. A. Ferguson of Minneapolis and Charles G. Stewart of Winnipeg. Part of the plan is the establishment of a private agricultural college with an endowment of 10,000 acres of the colony land, which will teach the immigrants without cost, modern ideas in agriculture. It is expected to be self-supporting by the sale of its products in Minneapolis and St. Paul. The land has been cut over and is covered with stumps.

The program is to use the experts of the agricultural departments of Minnesota and Wisconsin universities in developing the agricultural college.

To build up a model agricultural community with high economics and social standards.

To make farm life attractive by providing proper amusements and reducing the cost of living by demonstrating that farm life can be pleasant, thus attracting more people to farm life.

To show how good roads aid the economic success of a farm region.

To provide a market for the products of the colony by co-operative methods and a clearing house with a trademark on all products of the colony.

To dignify the profession of farming, to make the individual farmer self-reliant and improve the sociological conditions of farm life.

All buildings must be erected on plans provided by the Scotch philanthropists, and in accordance with the designs of a landscape architect. No two will be alike, but the entire colony must be harmonious in design. Graduates of the agricultural college will be provided with farms and the college will provide the capital for each graduate to begin operation on his own farm.

Stumps are now being pulled.

TURN COLLEGE INTO ZOO.

Hilarious Students Also Had Cock Fight in One Room.

Newark, Del., May 30.—Hearing peculiar sounds coming from Recitation hall when he arrived at the building in the morning, Janitor Barton of Delaware college scented trouble. When he unlocked the doors of the different recitation rooms and offices of the professors he found it in plenty. The rooms resembled a barnyard in early morning. Almost every species of domestic animal and fowl was there. The only thing missing was a cow. Seated in the armchair of one of the dignified professors was a "Billy" goat, while several chickens and ducks were perched on the desk. In another professor's office two sheep were found strolling around and bleating, while guinea pigs and rabbits scampered over the floor. In the office of Prof. W. Owen Spyherd there was evidence of a fight, as feathers were scattered all over the office. Even the office of Dr. George A. Harter, president of the college, had been visited. It was some time before the offices and rooms could be used, as a general renovation was necessary. An ominous investigation is under way. In addition to putting the collection of fowls in the rooms, all the keyholes had been cemented up by the hilarious students.

COEDS KISS DOG AND STRIKE.

Eccentric in Their Sympathy for Suspended Boy Students.

into school a bulldog decked out in class colors and pressing their kisses on the canine before their scandalized teachers, the nine girl members of the Alverton High school joined five boy fellow members of the graduating class in a strike, which threatens to wreck the graduating exercises. The boys were suspended following their refusal to take down their class flag from the flagpole, where they had flung it to the breeze. The girls left in sympathy with their classmates, but were induced to return. However, they insisted on bringing their mascot, the bulldog, to classes with them, and passionately fondled and kissed him before their teachers. It is possible that the school board will suspend commencement exercises and award no diplomas this year.

SERMON TELLS HOw TO LOAF

Pastor Relates and Criticises Ways of Living Without Working.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 30.—"A spendthrift sweetheart and extravagant wife has ruined many lives," declared Rev. T. W. Stout in his sermon at Calvary Methodist Church. "Young women can help form high moral standards among boys by not permitting great expenditures upon themselves.

Mr. Stout's subject was "How to Live Without Working." "There are ways to live without work, but all such have drawbacks," he said. "You can beg, but artistic begging is more strenuous than labor; stealing is a common method, but that leads to prison. Gambling attracts many lovers of ease, but good name and business success are hazarded. White slavery is possible. There are ways of living without working, but work makes character and success, avoids mischief and wins happiness and favor."

SURPRISING CURE OF STOMACH TROUBLE.

Jacob Hindelang, of Chelsea, Mich., was ill with stomach trouble and in such bad shape that he lived for two months on limewater and milk. He then began using Chamberlain's Tablets. He says: "I am seventy-six years of age but never in my life used any medicine that cured in such a short time as Chamberlain's Tablets." For sale by all dealers.

FALSE TEETH DIDN'T FIT.

So Injured Man Gets Verdict for $420 Damages.

Norristown, Pa., May 30.—In a suit for damages against the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company, William H. Cubberly, an Old York road resident, testified in civil court that his team was struck by a trolley car in Abington Township, and among other injuries sustained by him was a broken jaw, which rendered useless a set of false teeth which he had just obtained, as the jaw did not set in the same condition it was before the accident. Cubberly was awarded $420 damages.

GARDEN PARTY AT GOVERNOR'S ISLAND, NEW YORK.

A garden party was given at Governor's Island this week. It is an annual event and draws a great many army and other society people to the post each spring. One of the features of the affair is a drill by the soldiers on the island. This photograph shows them engaged in tent raising. Mrs. Lindley Garrison, wife of the secretary of war, was an interested onlooker. Among others present were Gen. Thos. H. Barry, commander of the post, and Mrs. Barry, Mrs. D. S. Lamont, Mrs. Chas. F. Roe and Finley Shepards.

Cheer! For the veterans are marching to the drum again!
Shout like a schoolboy as the line sweeps by.
Look at the style of them, their old pride has come again,
See it in their vigor and their heads held high!
Smaller, ever smaller, grows the grizzled living roll of them;
Just a little grayer as the swift years fly;
Age has wrought its havoc and the reaper taken toll of them,
Still they're marching briskly with their heads held high!

Uncover your head as they pass.
To the battered old colors they raise.
Uncover your head as they pass—
They are worthy your tribute of praise;
For they fought for the soul of the land
That the nation they love might endure,
That the dream of its founders might stand
And their faith be fulfilled and made sure.

Uncover for those who are dead,
The comrades whose marching is done.
Let the stately old service be said,
Let the laurels be placed that they won,
And then, with a thrill in each heart,
Let us turn from the graves and depart,
While the Flag floats in Heaven's blue dome
And the Old Boys "break ranks!" and go home.

And what of Us?
There is no war,
No danger worth the fighting for,
No Menace growing perilous,
For us to face? WE need not fight?

There never was such a time of need
For Soldiers of the Truth and Right
As there is now. Shall we find peace,
So long as Selfishness and Greed
Hold carnival, and take no heed?
We cannot cease
From battle with our country's foes
While Freedom wanes and Mammon grows!

All honor to the Boys in Blue
Whose work is through,
Whose war is won,
But our grim fight is just begun.
They fought in storms of shot and shell
For Union and for Liberty
And made a nation strong and free.
Humbly we pray to do as well
And win at last to victory,
Though fighting foes we cannot see!

An Everyday View of the Next Sunday School Lesson

Joseph Tests His Brethren.

Lesson text, Genesis 44. Golden text, James 5:16: Confess therefore your sins one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed.

The darkest hour is the one that precedes the dawn, or so it was in the succession of tests that Joseph imposed upon his brethren. At times they felt that the night had lifted, only to find themselves enveloped in a darkness deeper than before. Our last lesson closed upon a scene calculated to inspire cheer in every heart. A family reunion was being held at the house of Joseph. Simeon had been liberated and wine added to the merriment of the hour. But the morrow held for them the severest test of all. The second mission to Egypt was over and as soon as the morning was light the little caravan turned its face toward the north, with an abundant supply against the famine. The company must have been a happy one. The members were all present. From Reuben to Benjamin there was no break in the family circle, none save that made by the absence of Joseph, of whim they had not heard in many years.

Joseph's Brethren in Constant Apprehension of Judgment of God.

Was Joseph living or dead? There is no agony like that of suspense. The Jews had a peculiar delicacy in speaking of death. The imperial majesty of that hour was too great to find expression in a single word. Jacob was "gathered to his people," as were Abraham and Isaac before him. And Joseph "was not." His blood-stained garments bore a silent testimony to that awful mystery which we call death. So at least it did to Jacob. But to his sons it meant more than that. They lived in its constant presence. Wherever they went it followed, dragging in bloody trail the judgment of God.

The morning of their departure from Egypt, however, would seem to have been an exception. Benjamin was among them, and the sight of his countenance would soon redeem the promise they had made to their father. But the caravan had scarcely passed through the city gates when a messenger from Joseph demanded their return. The governor's favorite cup was gone. It in all probability had been in use at the banquet the night before and some one of the brothers had stolen it from the table. They did not know that Joseph had ordered all this in advance. The steward had returned to each his money, as on the occasion of their first visit, and the silver cup was placed, in addition, in the sack of Benjamin.

This was the climax. Up to this time Joseph had been dealing with actual criminals, but Benjamin had done no wrong. And yet the innocent must suffer with the guilty. Benjamin was a factor in the divine plan, and as such must bear his part. Paul says that if one of the bodily members suffer, all the other members must suffer with it. And there could be no truer illustration of common life—the human race is one. We are all parts of each other. Heart beats against heart and nerve twines about nerve. The moral distance between Simeon and Benjamin is very great, but Benjamin must suffer, apparently, for his brothers' misdeeds. The grinding process goes on and wheat and chaff must go through the same mill. Joseph must appear to be unjust to those who do not understand his purpose, and in like manner so must God.

Benjamin Incriminated by Finding of Joseph's Cup in His Sack.

The accusation on the part of the messenger was of the gravest kind. In addition to his master's gold and silver they had stolen the very cup from which he drank and, indeed, by which he divined. In this they had returned evil for good. Divination by cups was familiar to the Egyptians. How far Joseph may have practiced it is conjecture. Before Pharaoh he had confessed that the power to read dreams lay not in him but in God. Joseph may have adopted the custom of divination, but to what extent or purpose it would be difficult to say. The brethren protested their innocence. Their lives and freedom were staked upon it, but when their sacks were opened the money was found, while the cup lay within Benjamin's sack. Seeing is believing, so the eleven rent their garments and returned to the palace.

This incident is one of the most suggestive in the entire record. It demonstrates how one may seem to be guilty and yet be innocent, and further, the fact of one sin does not necessarily prove another. Because Judah sold Joseph to the Ishmaelites it does not follow that he stole his cup from the banquet table. In this entire transaction one must remember the motive that induced Joseph to act as he did. He had great things in store for his brethren, but first they must convince him that they were ready to receive them. Their attitude toward Benjamin no doubt perplexed him. For the crime of being his mother's son they had sold Joseph into Egypt. Would they deal more kindly by Benjamin if the opportunity should offer? For this reason he proposed to detain his younger brother and send them back to their father without him.

Judah, Pleading for Benjamin, Preaches Salvation Through Substitution.

The final interview between Joseph and the eleven ranks among the classics. Judah suddenly becomes an orator and touches the very deeps of eloquence. Eloquence often lies rather in the occasion than in the man. Once before Judah had pleaded within hearing of Joseph, but at that time another's life was involved rather than his own. Joseph accuses the eleven of folly in presuming to escape his power of divination. In this he himself must have been acting a part. He knew that the brethren were innocent, but Judah wisely avoided all discussion of fact. Everything was against him, and his only hope lay in reaching the governor's heart. And this he did with a skill almost superhuman. He pictures the old patriarch sitting by his fireside in Canaan. One son was dead and the loss of Benjamin, the child of his old age, would only hasten him to the grave. He himself had become surety for his brother's return and asked only to abide as a bondsman while the lad went back to his father's house.

The Lion of the tribe of Judah lives in every word. Judah preached salvation through substitution. Joseph relented. His heart melted under the force of Judah's plea, and the ruler of Egypt hastened to proclaim himself as one of the twelve.

LABORER HEIR TO $47,000.

Fireman Stops Work on Learning of Good Fortune.

Hutchinson, Kan., May 30.—When Elmer Manny, fireman at $10.50 a week, threw down his shovel and washed the coal dust from his face at the Carey salt plant, he said: "I'm through with coal shoveling for awhile." Detectives who have been scouring the country for Manny found him shoveling coal. As soon as he was found he was informed that an estate was waiting for him in Chicago. This time the "estate" was bona fide. Manny found $37,000 in a Chicago trust company awaiting him, and learned that he was owner of a store building and a twelve-room house, making his total balance $47,553. Manny got his estate through his great-grandfather, John P. Manny, the inventor of a self-tying binder. John P. Manny died twelve years ago at Battle Creek, Mich. Manny says he will invest his money in Kansas land.

POOR POLLY SHOULD WORRY.

Didn't Until She Met a Cat, and Now She Can't.

Chicago, May 30.—"Polly," the $300 parrot that for ten years has been a lively inmate of the home of J. W. Libbertson, pastor of the Sacramento Boulevard church, met an unusual finish. She flew out of a window and with a shriek, "I should worry," entered the home of Mrs. C. F. Hall, some distance away. A large brindle cat was in the room when Polly landed. Mrs. Hall ran for the police. There was awe in her countenance as she met Mrs. Libbertson. "There is a ghost in my house," she said hysterically. "It flies around like a spirit and hollers, 'I should worry.'" "It's not a ghost," said Mrs. Libbertson; "it's my Polly." She burst in the door. The large brindle cat occupied the immediate foreground. There was an expression of deep and abiding satisfaction on the cat's countenance. The parrot had disappeared down the cat's throat.

JAIL AND LIBRARY ARE ONE.

Authorities Doubt Propriety of Institutions Under One Roof.

Albany, N. Y., May 29.—The wisdom of maintaining a town and village lockup and a public library in the same building is questioned in a report submitted to the state prison commission following an inspection of the lockup at Camden, N. Y. "The lockup," says Inspector Young, "is reached through the main entrance to the town building and down a steep stairway into the cellar. This is highly objectionable; the cellar is not the proper place for a jail. The public library is located on the first floor."

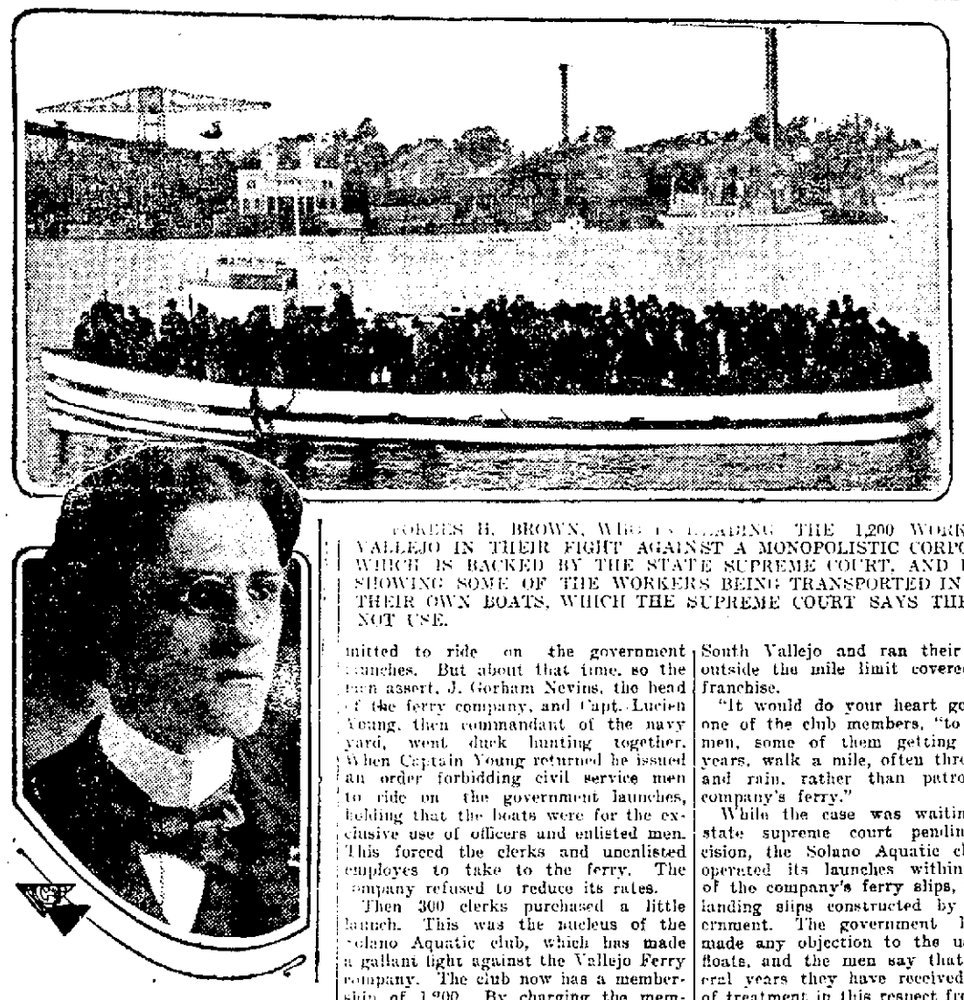
1,200 WORKERS FIGHTING COURTS AND VESTED INTERESTS FOR THEIR RIGHTS IN CALIFORNIA.



FORBES B. BROWN, WHO IS LEADING THE 1,200 WORKERS OF VALLEJO IN THEIR FIGHT AGAINST A MONOPOLISTIC CORPORATION WHICH IS BACKED BY THE STATE SUPREME COURT, AND PICTURE SHOWING SOME OF THE WORKERS BEING TRANSPORTED IN ONE OF THEIR OWN BOATS, WHICH THE SUPREME COURT SAYS THEY CANNOT USE.

Valtejo, Cal., May 30.—Twelve hundred workers are battling against a grasping corporation, backed by the supreme court of the state, in this city where live most all of the men who daily help operate Uncle Sam's navy yard.

For years the Vallejo Ferry company has had a monopoly on the transportation of government employes from Vallejo to their work at the Mare Island navy yard. The boat makes the trip in three minutes, charging 10 cents each way for an individual passage, or a flat rate of $2.18 per month.

Up to January, 1909, the civil service employes of the navy yard were permitted to ride on the government launches. But about that time, so the men assert, J. Gorham Nevins, the head of the ferry company, and Capt. Lucien Young, then commandant of the navy yard, went duck hunting together. When Captain Young returned he issued an order forbidding civil service men to ride on the government launches, holding that the boats were for the exclusive use of officers and enlisted men. This forced the clerks and unenlisted employes to take to the ferry. The company refused to reduce its rates.

Then 300 clerks purchased a little launch. This was the nucleus of the Solano Aquatic club, which has made a gallant fight against the Vallejo Ferry company. The club now has a membership of 1,200. By charging the members a ferry rate of $1.25 a month, as against $2.18, the club was enabled to pay an installment of $1,000 a month on its $10,000 investment in launches, could operate a non-profit cafeteria and own its own weekly newspaper.

The clerks used the launch until they arranged to have two larger ones built. These they operated successfully, without interference, until May, 1812, when the Vallejo Ferry company enjoined them from operating within the imle strip of the channel, which the company claimed was covered by its franchise. The injunction was upheld by the superior court of Solano county.

Then the men walked a mile down to South Vallejo and ran their launches outside the mile limit covered by the franchise.

"It would do your heart good," said one of the club members, "to see 1,200 men, some of them getting along in years, walk a mile, often through mud and rain, rather than patronize the company's ferry."

While the case was waiting in the state supreme court pending a decision, the Solano Aquatic club again operated its launches within a block of the company's ferry slips, using the landing slips constructed by the government. The government had never made any objection to the use of the floats, and the men say that for several years they have received the best of treatment in this respect from all the government officials at the yards.

Then came a supreme court decision. It says, in effect, that an employer may transport employes to work, but that the employes may not band together to transport themselves. The "employer" in this instance is the government. The government may ferry its employes across the channel, but the clerks and other civil service men, for whom the government does not provide transportation, may not band together and operate their own boats. One man may row himself across in his own boat, but two or more men doing so in a boat, commonly owned, would be violating the decision.

The Office Boy Who Comes to Bat With His Little Piece.

n.y., fridy - spring is a verry nice seasen of the yere, but it makes trubble between frends that is, when the frends happen to live next door to one anuther

1 herd of a verry sad case up in yonkers the uther day

2 familys by the name of wilyems and brown had been as frendly as could be, borrowing spoons and napkins off each uther when they had company, and evrything like that both of them have got nice big back yards, so a cuppel of years ago mr wilyems begun to make a garden, and mr brown started to raise chickins and about a week ago mr wilyems says to mr. brown, if you don't bild a fense around your chickin yard, there is going to be trubble your blame chickins are scratchin up my garden, and some of them are going to be missing if you dont keep them to home chickins nothing, says mr. brown, it's that moth-eaten old coat of yours, if you would give her enough to eat, probly she wouldant be scratchin around in your garden to keep from starving to deth so then nuthing more happened for a few days, and then mr wilyems he sees mr. brown one morning, and he hollers

thanks for your advice about treating our cat better

glad it done some good, answers mr. wilyems, come again any time

it worked fine, says mr. brown, I fixed up a nice nest out of straw in our old dorg house, and ile be blame if that cat doesn't lay a couple of nice fresh eggs in there pretty near every morning

mr. wilyems has bilt a fense around his chickin yard, and he says mr. brown is just the kind of a feller that would steal a dead fly from a crippled spider

BAPTISTS MEET AT GARRETT

Revs. C. E. Ehle and C. H. Snashall on Program for Addresses.

THREE DAYS' SESSION

Rev. C. E. Ehle, pastor of the South Side Baptist church, and Rev. C. H. Snashall, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be among the delegates from Fort Wayne who will be in attendance at the annual meeting of the Fort Wayne Baptist association to be held at Garrett the first three days of next week, commencing Monday evening and continuing through Wednesday afternoon.

Both Fort Wayne pastors are on the program for addresses. Rev. Mr. Ehle will speak on the theme, "State of Religion in the Churches," and Rev. Mr. Snashall will deliver a doctrinal discourse, both being programmed for Tuesday.

The association is composed of eight counties in Northeastern Indiana, the body consisting of delegates from the various Baptist churches, who will consider matters pertaining to the welfare of the denomination in this part of the state, and hear reports of the year's work. Some of the best speakers in this denomination will be present to deliver addresses.

Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to women's work in missions at home and abroad, which will be addressed by prominent speakers. The moderator of the association is Mr. E. W. Lewis, of this city, and Rev. T. E. Covington, also of this city, is clerk. It is expected that a large number from the two Baptist churches in this city will attend.

Formal Installation.

The formal installation of Rev. C. O. Shirey as pastor of the Bethany Presbyterian church took place Thursday evening at the church. Rev. T. P. Potts presided, Rev. Edward Montgomery delivered the charge to the congregation, Rev. A. R. Evans to the pastor and the sermon was delivered by Rev. H. B. Master. Rev. Mr. Shirey has been pastor of the congregation for four years, but, for various reasons, the formal installation was delayed.

Love of Brown Man for White Girl Ends in Awful Tragedy.

DIXIE LAWRENCE, THE AMERICAN GIRL WHOSE ALLIANCE WITH A JAPANESE ENDED IN TRAGEDY.

Oakland, Cal., May 30.—George Uchida, Japanese, loved Dixie Lawrence, 22, an American girl, and like all alliances of the east and west their story ended in tragedy. Some end in only heart tragedy, but Uchida and Dixie went to death together because she flaunted him and threw his love for her in his face.

One afternoon following the Japanese discovery of a letter written by Dixie Lawrence in which she said she was going with him only for the money she could get out of him, the little brown man deliberately prepared to avenge himself on the girl he loved.

He asked her to visit him at his home. She did. What happened no one will ever know, but when the police battered down the door of the room they found the lifeless body of the white girl and the dying Japanese, killed, they said, by his hand.

Uchida had deliberately planned the tragedy, written letters of farewell to his friends and then awaited the coming of the girl.

The story of the tragedy as told by the broken furniture and bullet pierced walls, lead the police to believe that the oriental, goaded by the woman, took the law in his own hands and killed her according to the code of his own land, the code of the Samurai: "Better death than disgrace."

The dead girl's real name was Annie Pierce, whose marriage to Frank Orsatt, son of a wealthy steamship agent in Los Angeles, was annulled.

Sewing machines valued at $10,000,000 were exported from this country in 1912 more than $4,000,000 worth going to Europe.

New Oregon Law Provides Severe Penalty for Neglecting Wife.

New Salem, Ore., May 30.—Among the laws that have gone into effect is one that is likely to make shiftless or neglectful husbands sit up and take notice. It provides that "any person who, without just or sufficient cause, shall fail or neglect to support his wife or children shall be deemed guilty of a felony and shall be punished therefor by confinement in the state prison for not less than one year nor more than three years, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days nor more than one year." While such a husband is in prison the law provides that the county court shall pay to his wife the sum of $1 a day and 25 cents additional for each child, but that not more than $1.75 a day is to be paid to any one wife.

JOSH WISE Says:
"It's just as well th' government didn't coin those half cents. Old Man Vetch would still have waited for his change."

CONTRACTORS BUILDERS

Carpenters, Masons, Plasterers, Diggers. Come to Seavey's for your tools. The largest selection of best ones at the lowest prices.

We don't see how one store could be more replete with standard quality tools for every craftsman than is ours. You needn't ask for the best at Seavey's. You'll get it anyway. If you are "on the job" and need something in a hurry, call us over the phone. You will assure yourself of the tools you want in a hurry, in a quality ... expected for the price
